'Twilight' Baby Born to Mrs. Jack Binns

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—The efficacy of the "Twilight Sleep" treatment was further demonstrated in the birth at the Long Island City College Hospital of a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. "Jack" Binns. Mr. Binns sprang into fame for his famous "S. O. S." wireless call for aid in the steamer Republic disaster.

The treatment, by Dr. John Polak, resulted successfully. The mother had sustained a fall during the hasty return of herself and husband from the war zone.

The correspondent sending the dispatch adds that the lack of mention of the Crown Prince in the German official reports is significant.

Choate, Jr., counsel for the will, and questioned on the contents of a letter written by her to Mr. Cabot after he had been sent away from the house on account of alleged friction with Stewart Woodward, Cabot's valet.

A letter was introduced, dated July 5, 1912, which was a reply from Miss Mahoney to Mr. Cabot's first letter, in which she wrote that "Trouble between Mr. Woodward and myself was entirely personal and did not in any way influence the others."

Continuing, this letter said that Miss Mahoney felt "a good deal troubled" and felt that it was the cause of much of the unpleasantness in the household.

SCHWARTZ GOES BACK; BAY STATE ROAD MEN WIN

When the arbitration proceedings between the Bay State Street Railway Company and its employes were resumed today, former Attorney General Swift, counsel for the company announced that Harry Schwartz of Brockton, who was discharged as a result of his testimony before the arbitrators, had been reinstated.

It had been feared the discharge of Schwartz might disrupt the arbitration, which has been held up for some days.

District Attorney Pelletier, who is sitting as chairman of the proceedings, made a statement denying that he had asked the company to discharge Schwartz, though admitting that he had made an informal remark that Schwartz was not wanted to hold his position.

Attorney James H. Vahey, representing the men, protested against a portion of Mr. Pelletier's remarks, and denied that there had been any perjury by the men who have testified.

Mr. Swift in his statement said:

COMPANY'S VOLUNTARY ACT.

"The company has in its answer to the committee of the men yesterday that Schwartz would be reinstated. This decision was reached without any ultimatum from the employes, and without any agreement whatsoever.

"In the discharge of Schwartz the company denies any intention of incurring an unfair or unjust advantage over the men in the arbitration proceedings. After careful consideration of the claim that such a condition has

Mayor Harrison of Chicago Beaten for a Sixth Term

CHICAGO, Feb. 24.—Complete official returns today from every precinct in yesterday's primary election showed Robert M. Sweitzer nominated by the Democrats for Mayor by 7,581 over Carter H. Harrison, and William Hale Thompson, winner of the Republican nomination over Judge Harry Olson by 4,326. Harrison, serving his fifth term as Mayor and never defeated before in a primary or general election, said he "was through."

Of the total primary vote of 305,-875 the men cast 211,431 votes and the women 94,444. This does not include the Socialist vote.

The women's vote was a surprise. Mayor Harrison having appointed women to the police force and to several responsible posts in the City Hall and having named Mrs. Ella F. Young as superintendent of schools, had been confident of receiving a majority of the new vote. He had expected to lose the old Swedetown and the lodging house wards which he did.

On the Republican side, Judge Olson, who was a reform candidate, expected to secure sufficient women's votes to overbalance the expected majority of the men for Thompson.

BRITISH AND FRENCH CONFER WITH THE DUTCH

THE HAGUE, Feb. 24.—The British and French ministers held a long conference with the Dutch minister of foreign affairs today. It is reported to have transmitted messages from their respective governments to Holland.

Queen Wilhelmina has completed plans for a visit of inspection to the troops on the eastern and southern frontier and a feeling of peace is apparent in official circles.

The failure of Germany to reply to the Dutch note in reference to the German submarine blockade is causing much unfavorable comment in Dutch newspapers, though they have been warned to avoid any expressions that might strain the relations between Holland and Germany.

Audacious Captain Now Rear Admiral

LONDON, Feb. 24.—The official list of changes in the naval personnel announces that Captain Ewell H. Rogers, until recently in command of the battleship Arkansas, has been promoted to Rear Admiral.

The British submarine Ardent was reported lost November 10 has been sent off the Irish coast by a mine. No official announcement regarding the Ardent has ever been made, and a recent report stated that she had been salvaged and towed to the Belfast docks, and that she would soon rejoin the fleet.

Turks Are Driven Across River.

LONDON, Feb. 24.—A report today from Petrograd of fighting in the Caucasus announces the Russians, in an engagement with their enemy in the vicinity of Tehorok, drove the Turks across the river.

TORPEDO ENGLISH STEAMER IN CHANNEL

PARIS, Feb. 24.—(Bulletin)—The allies will retaliate for the German submarine blockade by seizing all private property of Germans, no matter on what ships found and by seizing all cargoes directly or indirectly destined for Germany. This was announced today.

LONDON, Feb. 24.—The British steamship Oakley of West Hartlepool was torpedoed and sunk by a German submarine in the English Channel, off Folkstone today. All the members of the crew were landed. The Oakley was not far from the Folkstone pier when she was attacked, indicating that the Germans submarine attacks are becoming bolder. The Oakley was destroyed in the lane used by British transports crossing the channel from Folkstone. The Oakley was a vessel of 3,000 tons and carried a crew of between twenty and thirty men.

A cablegram this afternoon from Stockholm says that the Swedish steamer Specia has been sunk by a mine in the North Sea. A marine bulletin posted here today announces her loss. The Specia sailed from Liverpool on February 21 with a crew of eighteen and a cargo of 2,600 tons.

The first decisive reprisal of Germany's submarine warfare against British shipping is an order from the English Admiralty restricting all navigation in the Irish Sea and the North Channel, where a big section of the home fleet is stationed. Ships passing through the North Channel must follow a certain route and they will not be allowed to make passage at night.

The Irish Sea, the English Channel and the North Sea are swarming with submarines. In these waters the under water craft and mine have damaged or sunk fourteen ships since the "war zone" proclamation went into effect a week ago.

A dispatch from New Haven states that eighteen members of the crew of the British collier Branksome Chine were landed there. They report that the collier was torpedoed without warning about twenty miles from Beachy Head. The Branksome Chine left Fraine Tuesday morning. The explosion was so great when the ship struck that her hatches were blown open. The vessel began to settle at once and the lifeboats were lowered.

A German submarine signalled the Swedish pilot boat Iris for assistance off Mundal last night. The Iris was unable to approach her because of mines and the submarine suddenly sank. It is believed to have hit a mine.

A radiogram from Berlin conveys an official announcement to the effect that a British transport was sunk near Beachy Head, but the Germans evidently mistook the collier for a troopship.

But the Germans have to pay their price for the consternation they are causing in British government circles and the panic they have struck into British shipping. A telegram from Paris announces that a German submarine, believed to be the U-16, had been sunk in the English Channel by a French torpedo boat destroyer off Cape Alprech on Monday night.

U. S. SENDS SECRET NOTES ON STARVATION WAR TO ENGLAND AND GERMANY

An attempt to sink the Folkestone-Boulogne steamer Victoria proved unsuccessful. The packet was attacked in the darkness by a submarine, which fired a torpedo across the bows of the vessel. The phosphorescent glow of the torpedo could be seen less than thirty yards in front of the Victoria's bows. The attack took place within four and a half miles of Boulogne.

Many rumors are current here. It was reported that several German submarines had been attacked by warships in the Straits of Dover and were either sunk or badly damaged, but there is no official confirmation of this rumor.

It is believed that all members of the crew of the American ship Carib were saved when she was sunk by a mine in the North Sea while on her way to Bremen with a cargo of cotton.

The pilot of the Norwegian steamer Regin, who is in the hospital at Dover, states that the vessel was scarcely moving when she was attacked. Her crew were saved by British destroyers.

An Amsterdam dispatch says that the steamer Princess Juliana sailed from Flushing for Tilbury, England, in spite of the menace to navigation in English waters. The same dispatch said that the crew of the steamer Deutschland mutinied and refused to take the vessel out of port.

The cabinet met again today and adjourned after a two-hour session without making any announcement as to the retaliatory measures to be used against Germany. The action of the United States in reopening submarine negotiations ends the "safe war" and its resultant peril to neutral shipping may further delay the expected proclamation declaring an embargo upon food and raw materials consigned to Germany.

While government officials declined to comment for publication today upon the American note, it was plainly intimated that Germany had carried her submarine war zone far beyond England to change her retaliatory plans, as to which the foreign office is now communicating with Petrograd and Paris.

The German note also extended the marine territory included in the war zone, according to a semi-official dispatch today from Berlin, which says that the Orkney and Shetland Islands, lying off the northeast coast of Scotland, at the head of the North Sea, and also Kirkwall Harbor, in the Orkney Islands, must be regarded as lying within the war zone, but that the pleasure on both sides of the Straits of Gibraltar and the mouth between Scotland and Ireland, are not embraced.

It is expected today that the effect of the British Admiralty order will be to divert Atlantic traffic around the south of Ireland, where, owing to the wider seas, there will be greater facility in maneuvering in such a way as to avoid a submarine attack.

It is believed the Admiralty order means that the prohibited channels are so small as to be practically protected by mines as one means of defense against submarines.

It is considered possible that one or two other British steamers have suffered destruction on being over zone, but in each instance substitutes were found.

The crew of the British steamer Barleydale, which Greenberg refused to accompany their ship from Falmouth to Rotterdam, but who were soon found to take their places.

BERLIN CONSIDERS NEW U. S. NOTE WHICH URGES COMPROMISE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—Word was received by the State Department today that the German Foreign Office had just began consideration of the note in which United States proposing an adjustment of the food question. United States Ambassador Gerard has been asked to call at the German Foreign Office this afternoon for a conference with Herr von Jagow, Germany's Foreign Minister. The German Foreign Office, under, stands that a note of similar nature has been presented to the British government, and it is probable that Germany will wait for action upon it by England before replying to the Washington communication.

Convinced by the sinking of the American ships Evelyn and Carib in the North Sea that prompt measures must be taken to prevent further disasters to American shipping, the Washington administration today took up two lines of action looking to this end.

They were said to be: "To insist for a warning to all shipping interests of the dangers of disregarding the German Admiralty's war zone instructions.

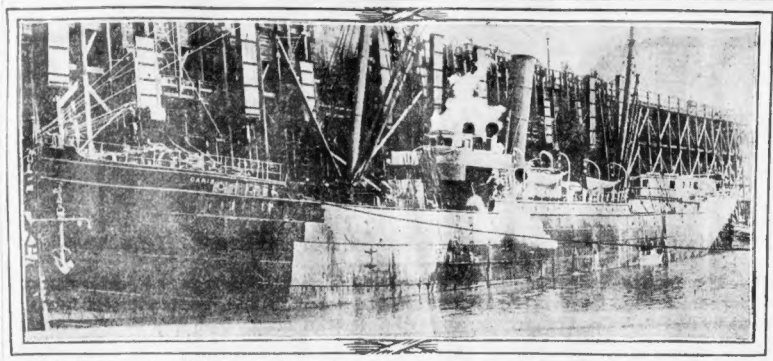
To make at least tentative efforts to modify the English embargo on food stuffs consigned to Germany and the German war zone order.

The declaration of the German authorities that both the Evelyn and the Carib were sunk while out of the course laid down by the German Admiralty has awakened official Washington to the probable grave consequences of such action. It is expected that the Treasury department shortly will issue the warning to shipping as the war risk insurance bureau most likely will have to stand the loss.

Senator Clark, Senator Stone of the Foreign Relations Committee, and other leaders in Congress, conferred with the President today. American Minister Henry Van Dyke at the Hague today rushed the State Department that the American steamer Carib was sunk by a mine in the North Sea, while outside of the route prescribed by the German instructions. Secretary Bryan said that the minister's message contained no further details. The secretary dispatched a message to the minister, asking for a full report upon the disaster.

Administration officials admitted that a serious situation exists, and that Secretary Bryan's cancellation of his visit to New York was regarded as significant. It was said the Secretary desired to remain in close touch with President Wilson and be in a position to receive the earliest news of overseas developments.

The government's war risk insurance bureau faces a deficit, due to the blowing up of the Carib and the Evelyn. The Carib carried insurance of $258,000 on hull and cargo, which, with the loss of the Evelyn, means the bureau is liable for about $629,000. This exceeds the total so far collected in premiums.



The Clyde line steamship Carib photographed at Boston dock on her last trip to this country. She was formerly in the Boston service. She is the second American vessel to be sunk since the new war zone proclamation by German.

Holland-American liner Noorderdyk, ashore near Poortershaven, reported to have been crippled by a mine and beached.

RUSSIAN RETREATING BATTLE "MOST HEROIC OF THE WAR"

How an entire corps of the Russian army was surrounded by the Germans and for ten days fought to the death until practically annihilated during the recent battle of the Masurian Lakes, is told in an official statement issued by the Petrograd war office today.

Petrograd calls the heroism of this corps "one of the most brilliant chapters in Russian history." The fighting took place in the forest near Augustowo, in Russian Poland.

The corps was the Twentieth of the Tenth Russian Army, and was commanded by Lieutenant General Bulgakoff. This corps probably comprised more than 40,000 men. Russian military statistics place the total war strength of a corps at 44,000 men, 12,000 horses, with a combatant strength of 30,000 rifles, 64 machine guns, 108 field pieces and 1,000 sabres.

Today's official statement says the corps was made up of the twenty-ninth Russian army division and three reserve regiments of the active army. The Petrograd dispatch gives the statement the first details of the destruction of the corps on the retreat from East Prussia" before Field Marshal Von Hindenburg's forces.

FOUGHT TERRIBLE ODDS.

The statement recounts how Bulgakoff's corps was enveloped by the Germans on February 12, being completely cut off from the rest of the fleeing Tenth Army. This was between Goldaiph and Suwalki. The official account continues:

"The numbers of the enemy constantly increased, until February 22 but the corps fought heroically against the enemy, though outnumbered several times. During three days it marched thirty-two miles, fighting all the time and continuing to force its way toward the southeastern part of Augustowo forest.

"According to the stories told by prisoners whom we captured, the twentieth corps inflicted heavy losses on the German forces.

TAKE GERMAN PRISONERS.

"Reports from various individuals of this corps who succeeded in escaping show that the corps fought to its last cartridge and until its strength was completely exhausted, valiantly repelling attacks on its four fronts, also holding on to its artillery and taking along with it many German prisoners.

"Today's other war dispatches indicate not only that the fighting continues without vigor in Northern Poland, where he Russians have apparently halted the pursuing Germans, but that terrific battling is taking place in the Carpathians and at several points on he Western front.

"Paris reports a furious German offensive against the British troops in Belgium, admits a German gain near the North Sea coast, and tells of forcing the Kaiser's troops to abandon three first-line trenches in the Champagne district and of driving the Germans out of two other positions at the point of the bayonet.

GERMANS CLAIM GAINS.

The Berlin official statement admits the French are fighting stubbornly in the Champagne section and claims gains by the Germans in the Vosges and in the fighting around Prasnysz, in Russian Poland.

This is the statement of the Berlin War Office:

"Near Perthes in Champagne, French infantry divisions attacked our troops at several points. Violent hand-to-hand fighting followed, but all the encounters resulted favorably to the Germans. The enemy suffered heavy losses and was driven back into his former positions.

"In the Vosges, the Germans have progressed as the result of their attack against Sulzern and Muelbach and west of Krosswell. In the engagements of the last few days we have taken 500 prisoners.

"In the eastern theatre a new Russian advance from Grodno was easily repulsed. Southeast of Augustowo the Russians crossed the Bobr River at two points. They have been already driven back near Stawisk. Near Kreutzburg an engagement is still in progress. Near Prasnysz 1,200 Russians were taken prisoners and two guns captured. A Russian night attack east of Skiernieiwice was repulsed."

A Rome dispatch to the Paris Echo says that the German embassy at the Italian capital "admits that General von Hindenberg's losses on his drive on East Prussia were 100,000, including dead, wounded and prisoners."

"The French offensive is greatest between Rheims and the River Meuse, where the allies are pounding away at the German left centre. The French War Office states the French are moving forward slowly between Rheims and the Argonne, and that here two German lines of redoubts were blown up.

"The German attacks on the British trenches between Ypres and the French border are described by Paris as "furious drives," the infantry assaults being varied by terrific artillery combat.

The Paris statement, which now admits that fighting is taking place west of Lambersyde in West Flanders, continues:

"The Germans lost an artillery support between Perthes and Somme, northeast of Souain.

"In the valley of the Meuse, near St. Mihiel, the French have gained a further success and counter attacks of the Germans to dislodge them from their new position failed.

"In the Vosges and upper Alsace attempts of the Germans to force the French back through the Pass of Bon Homme have failed. Despite the blizzard, which has been raging in the mountains, the Germans have continued to deliver attacks every day.

ARTILLERY DUELS ON.

"Artillery duels are in progress near the Oise, the Lys and along the Aisne. Heavy cannon fire is still in progress in the section of Rheims.

"Batteries of high angle guns are being mounted at Dunkirk, Calais and Boulogne, where the base hospitals of the allies are located."

The Russians claim the capture of 47,640 men, 491 officers, two aeroplanes, in the past month. 17 guns and 118 machine guns in Galicia, and the Petrograd statement continues:

"Fine fighting is now in progress over a front 125 miles long in the Carpathians. The Russian wedge driven through Dukla Pass into Hungary in holding tenaciously to the ground gained, while to the east of Dukla Pass the Russian line is being pushed forward slowly, despite the obstinuate resistance of the Teutons.

"In Northern Poland a sanguinary battle is in progress on the 105-mile front extending from Kenopki on the Lidynia, River to Osowiec on the Biobr, while another engagement is proceeding near Plonra, northwest of Novo Georgievsk. The Germans are making desperate efforts to take Plonak and Prasonyk, but thus far their attacks have failed."

Kaiser Sees Big 'Kultur' Triumph for the Germans

BERLIN, Feb. 24.—The Kaiser has given this message to the Prussian Diet in reply to its congratulations sent him on the Mazurian Lakes victory:

My warmest thanks for the kind congratulations of the Diet on the splendid successes which the wonderful bravery and perseverance of our heroic sons, together with the brilliant strategy of their leaders, have gained for the fatherland.

A people of poets and thinkers has been transformed into a united people in arms, and we can rely on the strength of its determination to triumph over all the enemies of German "kultur" and civilization. God will be with us and our just cause.

Allies Issue Appeal to United States

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—The entente allies have made representations to the United States that Germany is not meeting the cost of care of her prisoners of war in their camps and have asked the United States, as caring for the diplomatic interests of all the warring powers, to make representations to Berlin.

EAT LESS MEAT IF BACK HURTS

Take a glass of Salts to flush kidneys if bladder bothers you.

Eating meat regularly eventually produces kidney trouble in some form or other, says a well-known authority, because the uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish; clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region; rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous Salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity; also to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts cannot injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus avoiding serious kidney disease.—Advertisement.

HORN INQUIRY BY U. S. IN BOSTON

The Federal Grand Jury in Boston today began an investigation of the case of Werner Horn, who on February 2 last attempted to blow up the international bridge over the St. Croix River at Vanceboro, Me. About twenty witnesses from Vanceboro and other places were present.

The greatest significance is attached to the investigation, which presumably is to determine whether the interstate law against the transportation of dynamite was violated by Horn in his preparations to blow up the bridge.

The proceedings before the Grand Jury are being conducted personally by United States District Attorney George P. Anderson, who declares he is acting under orders from the Attorney-General at Washington.

Horn, who declares he was an officer in the German army, is now serving thirty days for a minor offence in the county jail at Machias, Me. Efforts are being made by Canadian authorities to have him extradited at the expiration of his term. Horn says he will fight extradition on the ground that his act was one of military expediency, and that his plans were laid in Germany.

FIND LAW TO SAVE CITY CLUB'S HALL

Building Commissioner O'Hearn's ban can be lifted from the City Club's big assembly hall, the Peabody House social-theatre and numerous church assembly halls the city over, under an eleven-word "rider" discovered today in the 1907 theatre laws.

The beautiful assembly hall in the new City Club building, one of the largest in the State, is now closed to entertainments or lectures by reason of an edict issued by Commissioner O'Hearn, under an act passed by the Legislature eight years ago.

The same is true of the Peabody House social-theatre at the West End, which has been closed for several months, and of a number of church assembly halls in the Roxbury and South Boston districts.

While Commissioner O'Hearn was compelled by law to put a ban on all such places, the difficulty can be overcome under the last eleven words of the following section of the law:

GIVES BOARD POWER.

Section 107, Chapter 560, Acts of 1907: Every building hereafter erected containing a hall or assembly room, shall conform to all the aforesaid requirements as to exits, stairways, exit lights, aisles and seats, which apply to theatres, subject to such exceptions as the board of appeals shall allow."

The positively gives the board of appeals of the Boston Building Department the power to allow the City Club to use its magnificent assembly hall on all occasions. It may also remove the ban from the Peabody House social-theatre, and the church assembly halls in question, although Building Commissioner O'Hearn is restrained from exercising a like power.

The only possible hitch under the newly discovered eleven-word rider lies in the fact that the board of appeals hasn't held a meeting for several months because the Master Builders' Association and Mayor Curley seem to be at loggerheads over the appointment of a fifth man to serve on that board.

LEGALITY WAS UPHELD.

Following the Mayor's removal of the old board, the legality of which later was upheld by the courts, Mayor Curley repeatedly has urged the Master Builders' Association to nominate its representative for this board. The Mayor at the same time issued an ultimatum, stating that he would not re-appoint Neil McNeil, to whom the builders wished the appointment given.

This deadlock has prevented any meeting of the board of appeals since the assembly hall question was made an issue by Commissioner O'Hearn.

That this board, once reorganized, also has the power to modify still another section of the theatre laws, which call for a solid wall in any such building, a wall that shall separate the assembly hall from the remainder of the building, further seems unquestioned.

Won't Take 'No' from Evangelist Sunday

Boston Pilgrims Get Decision Today

Despite the picturesque slang of Billy Sunday in his war on the devil, he is, in more dignified moments, strong and impressive.

Characteristic pose of Billy Sunday

The committee of seventy-five clergymen and laymen who went to Philadelphia to hear and see Billy Sunday, the evangelist, and to invite him to come to Boston, called at the Sunday dwelling on spring garden street in the Quaker City today and extended him the formal invitation to come to the Hub and hold a big revival here. Sunday will announce his decision later.

The delegation was most hopeful that Sunday would accept the invitation. It also hoped, in the event of Sunday giving a favorable answer, that arrangements could be made to have the popular evangelist in Boston by next Fall.

Sunday has specified certain conditions which must be fulfilled, or agreed to, before he would consider a Boston trip.

These conditions, fairly well understood by the Boston clergymen, they are prepared to show him, have either been carried out already, or will be immediately. After hearing "Billy" Sunday, swaying an audience of 20,000 men, women and children, the "committee" is even more determined to take him to Boston than when they left that city.

They marched into the Tabernacle in a body, singing to the old stirring tune of "Hold the Fort, for I am Coming," a "Sunday campaign song," composed on the train on the way over. "Too much pop," Billy commented; "don't sound like Boston at all." The song made even more of a hit with the tremendous audience, which lustily joined in the words of the chorus:

"Hold the fort, for Sunday's coming,
Sunday's on behind;
Wire the answer back to Boston,
Get yourself in line."

The delegation not only attended the afternoon services, but were in early in the evening, and all had prayers for the afternoon services today. When they were not at the Tabernacle, they were visiting clergymen friends in Philadelphia, receiving no little encouragement from comments here in their determination to take the evangelist to Boston.

NEW TRIAL MOVE IN 'TOODLES' CASE

Judge Lawton will be asked tomorrow to set on early date for a new trial of the $50,000 breach of promise suit brought by Miss Elizabeth M. I. Toodles's Ryan against Harry K. Mansfield at the Perpetual Court. He first trial of which resulted in a disagreement after twenty-four hours of deliberation by the jurors.

Attorney Coakley will make the motion for the trial.

The story in a morning paper that a settlement of $25,000 was being considered is without foundation, according to attorneys in the case. That a settlement would be acceptable to the plaintiff is true, but the figure would have to be high, according to Attorney Coakley, and no offer has been made to counsel's knowledge.

FILES $50,000 BOND.

The action of yesterday in releasing the attachment on the Mansfield property, which was attached in a local trust company vault, was the outcome of an agreement between counsel whereby Miss Ryan released the property which was attached and Mansfield has filed a bond for $50,000.

Miss Ryan is still in Boston and a trial date for her case may be set as soon as he assumes as her attorneys new duties, a new trial and Coakley also said that the jury would return a substantial verdict for her the next time.

Another one of the jurors today said of what took place in the jury room as follows:

"It was indeed a lengthy session we held. Regarding that verdict, there is one matter appears to be a doubt in the minds of the people as to what it was. The question which came up was one concerning a promise of marriage made by Mr. Mansfield to Miss Ryan during their visit in New York.

"The jury could, eleven to one, find that she declared that Mansfield did not promise Miss Ryan there he would marry her, but that was not taken before breakfast some time later, there was a compromise vote.

"One of the jury believed in rendering a verdict for Miss Ryan and asked to give her five hundred dollars. That vote was seven to five. It stood that way for a number of hours. Then another juror argued that Miss Ryan ought to get a verdict that the amount should be five thousand dollars.

FAVORED $5,000 VERDICT.

"The vote on that was seven to five for Miss Ryan. One of the jurors said he favored by argument that she ought to get $5,000 and he could not would come over with the majority. Then the vote eight to four for Miss Ryan on the next ballot. It stood eight to four the remainder of the session.

"The argument raised by the jurymen opposed to Miss Ryan was the incident where Miss Ryan said to her friend, in the presence of Mr. Mansfield. 'The long expected has come at last.' The opponents of Miss Ryan on that question contended that a conversation between Miss Ryan and her friend concerning Mr. Mansfield was not a promise of marriage coming from Mansfield."

The BLACK BOX

Keep Your Eye Peeled for The Black Box

We went over to London unrecently and slipped E. Phillips Oppenheim ten thousand green boys to write our next serial. He did so and called it "The Black Box." It slips on the screen March 8th. Gee! my pulse leaps as I read it. Ee Pee loves the weird stuff. He's full of gray twilights, bleak moors, queer shapes, vague muttering, hoarse cries and dee-tectives. And he's dumped the whole product in this yarn.

He loves to tie the hero in a knot and watch him dig his way out. Yes, an' he's always chuckin' things in his way. By the time Ee Pee's hero reaches the finish, he's tired enough to retire. And you've simply got to see this Black Box. Go around to your favorite theatre and ask its owner to book the thrilling thing. Tell him that E. Phillips Oppenheim is one of the greatest writers in the world and you want to see his imagination in moving pictures.

Ten thousand green lads! Think of it! Have you thought of it! All right. It shows you how far the UNIVERSAL will go to entertain the people of this country. It's the greatest film manufacturing concern in the world.

Come out to Universal City, which opens March 15th, and see the Black Box acted out. Go direct to Los Angeles by way of the Santa Fe, then take a trolley ride to Universal City and "Big U."

ROW IN MEDFORD ON STREET NAME

Medford is aroused over the question of naming a street Wellington road or Lawton road, and the local city joint committees of highways and ordinances will act on the matter.

The situation developed probably has no parallel in the State records. It shows one side of a street clamoring for one name, the other side for another, with the middle of the street the dead line. One side of the street has its mail come to Lawton road while the other side has it come to Wellington road. Deeds for property on the westerly side of the street are in the name of Lawton road, while those on the easterly side are worded "Wellington road, formerly Lawton road."

When the farms of James Wellington and his brother were cut up for development, a street was built along the boundary line of the two farms. A surveyor made plans for the street and at the request of one of the younger Wellingtons named the roadway Lawton road, two of the Wellington boys having married the Lawton sisters. When another company had its plans made out, at the request of Mr. Wellington, it put the name of Wellington road on its plans. Both sets of plans were filed in the Registry of Deeds at East Cambridge.

Recently the Aldermen were asked to accept the roadway as a public highway and as a result the peculiar tangle was unearthed. At the hearing before the board last night the entire east side of the street appeared en masse for Wellington and the entire west side for Lawton road. The hearing was so spirited that President Frank G. Volpe of the Board of Aldermen was obliged to call upon a policeman at the door to assist in maintaining order.

When it came to voting as to which the name should be, one member moved that the matter be sent to the joint committee on ordinances and highways, and they will decide the matter.

Meanwhile, if you walk on one side of the street you are on Lawton road, but if you take the opposite sidewalk you are on Wellington road.

The sunken dredger, which was the largest of its type in the world, made the first excavations for the Cape Cod Canal. Fifteen of its crew were saved.

ARRAIGN FINN AT LAWRENCE COURT

LAWRENCE, Feb. 24.—Dennis H. Finn, former member of the House of Representatives, who shot and seriously wounded Alderman Paul Hannagan in the latter's office yesterday, was this afternoon arraigned before Judge J. Mahoney on a charge of assault with intent to murder.

He was represented by Attorney A. J. Dooley, and on pleading not guilty was held without bail for ten days so that it may be determined whether Hannagan will recover from his wounds.

The Alderman, who is head of the Fire Department and a prominent aspirant for the Public Works Department of Boston, was resting easily today. Another examination was to be made to determine whether his jaw was broken, and to find the bullet which is believed to have lodged in his neck.

Feeling in Lawrence ran so high after Finn's arrest that the police station in which he was locked up was protected by a guard of police. When he was being taken to the police station he and his captors were nearly mobbed by a frenzied crowd.

The police are still uncertain whether the crime is simply a revengeance on the prisoner or to set him free. He was disarmed and cheered by different factions in the police crowd at the same time.

PREACHED TO UNEMPLOYED.

Finn is said to have boasted after his arrest that he meant to kill Hannagan, exclaiming: "Hannagan can live in luxury, while I, a poor working man, and my family must starve and die for the unemployed."

Since his discharge by the street department, where he had been employed as a laborer, Finn has been looking around to find employment.

The heavy pipe with Hannagan was smoking when Finn opened fire on him is believed to have saved him from immediate death.

This pipe, which Hannagan continued to smoke calmly, awaited the arrival of physicians in the Mayor's office, deflected the first bullet, so that it merely glanced from his skull instead of piercing the brain.

Hannagan was standing over the telephone when Finn, who had previously attended the Alderman's home to find out just when he would retired the brandishing room of the street department, took a revolver from Chief Champy, Hannagan's chauffeur, and immediately levelled a revolver at Hannagan, and fired.

The pipe received the force of the blow, and was shattered from Hannagan's mouth. The bullet pierced his thumb and split the skin over his cheekbone. The Alderman leaped from his chair, directly at his assailant. This disconcerted the aim of the second shot, which shattered the jawbone and lodged in the tissues of the neck. Those in the room are unable to tell whether two or three shots were fired.

Then Hannagan and Finn grappled. The others in the room, who had run to cover at the first report of the revolver, now returned and went to the assistance of the Alderman, who was wrestling with Finn for the possession of the revolver. Patrolmen David Lourie and Hugh Tarbox finally overpowered him.

Hannagan then picked up his pipe, which was still in his mouth, relighted and walked, calmly puffing at the pipe the length of the corridor to the Mayor's office.

In the corridor were a number of Finn's supporters, and Police Lourie is certain that in the crowd that rushed about the prisoner after the shooting were those who tried to get near enough to strike the prisoner. Before either object could detention police station, under the patrolmen, Finn had been hustled off.

SCHWARTZ AGAIN ON BAY STATE LINE

resulted, however, and to carry out the broad spirit of fair play which it has always sought to manifest, and to present any feeling on the part of the men that they have not had a full and fair opportunity to present their side of the case to the board of arbitration, the company has decided to forego what it believes to be its undoubted right to discharge in this case and to dispose of this matter in accordance with the broad principle ordinarily followed by permitting him to be reinstated to the service of the company, so that no semblance exists of objection may be permitted to interfere with the proper presentation and consideration of the matters which were deemed of sufficient importance to require their determination by a board of arbitration."

Mr. Pelletier then said:

"There has been a great deal of talk and publicity regarding the discharge of Schwartz by the Company so far as his discharge is concerned, I want it plainly understood that I had no part in it. I was not consulted, and offered no advice.

"I did express the opinion here, officially though publicly, that in view of the perjured testimony on was in our opinion unfit to act as conductor and unfit to remain a member of the organization and ought to be dismissed.

BENEFITS THE PEOPLE.

"If now the Public Service Company wishes to reinstate Schwartz it is its business and not mine, and has nothing to do with the issue before this board, and I have no comment and criticism to offer.

"I think my public record should show that leniency and kindness are no strangers to my treatment of offenders and to those accused of crime and wrongdoing. I have a feeling that goes beyond the question of Schwartz's testimony, of Schwartz's discharge or reinstatement, and indeed that goes far beyond the question which is before this board as to the wages of this company's employes, important as that is.

"I believe I have in mind the vital importance of such arbitration as this to the great body of organized labor, and to the public generally. I cannot agree with the opinion expressed by some that arbitration is beneficial to a far greater extent to the company than to the employes. I believe it is equally beneficial to both, and of great benefit to the people at large.

"World peace and disarmament are and have been and shall continue to be the world's most humane endeavor. Arbitration seeks for peace. Strikes means wars and its horrors.

WAYFARERS IN FIGHT; HOLD 6

Six men who were arrested charged with drunkenness during a fight in the trunk room on the top floor of the Wayfarers' Lodge, Hawkins street, will be arraigned in court today.

The men were among the first to apply for lodgings and were sent to the top floor after they had performed the customary requirements attending entrance to the institution. They had been there only a short time when Dr. Varney, the superintendent, heard a commotion, and, rushing upstairs, found all six men in a rough-and-tumble fight.

CHOICE VACANCIES

are now listed in the "Apartment To Let" columns for an international congress, but they won't be there after the spring rush starts.

ELLEN TERRY UNDER KNIFE

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—Ellen Terry, the actress, following an operation for the removal of cataracts at the New York Eye and Ear Infirmary, sent out this word from her room in the hospital to inquirers:

"I am getting along beautifully. Thank everybody for his interest in me, but really I would rather have nothing said about the operation."

At the hospital, the statement was made that Miss Terry's condition was entirely satisfactory. The period required for recovery from such an operation, as that performed on the actress, is from two to three weeks. It is believed that the trouble has been removed and that it will no longer interfere with Miss Terry's work on the stage and lecture platform. The operation was performed by Dr. John Elmer Weeks.

Miss Terry announced in Philadelphia, two weeks ago, that she was to have the operation performed, adding:

"It does not hurt, but it will keep me in America for a month, while my daughter is on Waterloo Bridge watching for the Germans."

Safeguard Teachers from Sectarianism

Legislation to prevent sectarianism from entering into the choice of school teachers is contained in a bill reported to the Legislature today by the Committee on Education. The bill would prohibit any inquiry as to the religious beliefs of applicants for positions as school teachers.

RACE NORTH UPON NEW CLEW TO COE

Two Boston detectives are today racing to the Hudson Bay region of Canada to run down what is declared to be the best clew to Henry Clarke Coe, 37, the young Alston employe of the Standard Oil Company, discovered since he dropped out of sight on January 20. The trail leads to St. Johns Lake, Quebec, from which point the journey north can be made only by dog teams.

It is hoped that if the stranger believed to have been young Coe reached St. Johns Lake he can be traced through the hiring of a dog team and driver to take him further into the frozen wilderness. The detectives are resolved to pursue with other dog teams if the clew develops as well as promised.

The Canadian clew is considered to impress Coe's young wife, to whom Harry S. he glanced at a two-column picture of himself in a newspaper and became visibly agitated.

Raymond Shipman, sixteen, a newsboy at Essex Junction, Vt., unearthed the clew of which so much is hoped. He is confident he saw Coe at the railroad station on February 5 and 7, and that on Friday, February 5, he glanced at a two-column picture of himself in a newspaper and became visibly agitated.

BERNHARDT EAGER TO RESUME ACTING

BORDEAUX, France, Feb. 24.—"As soon as I can be fitted with an artificial leg I shall return to the stage," declared Mme. Sarah Bernhardt, immediately after arriving here on the operation for the amputation of her right leg above the knee. Mme. Bernhardt is well from the operation and can be seen resting comfortably.

"I hope soon to be able to do all that fierce spirit which now holds me and which will sustain me until beyond the grave," she told the surgeons.

Telegraphic inquiry regarding Mme. Bernhardt's condition has been received from Queen Victoria of Spain, the ex-Empress Eugenie, Paul Deschanel, president of the Chamber of Deputies, and Alexandre Dalliniet, under secretary of Fine Arts, together with hundreds of others. Edmond Rostand went to Arcachon and remained there until assured the operation had been successful.

MAINE WOMAN HELD AS SLAYER

WATERVILLE, Me., Feb. 24.—It became known here last night that Mrs. Emma Hosier of Winslow, a small town in Lincoln [illegible] committed to jail [illegible] charged with murder in the first degree.

It is asserted that the action was taken as a result of the death of Mrs. Hosier's husband, Frank Hosier, a gambling proprietor, from poisoning. The theory is entertained that Hosier died after he had made a confession of the manner of the death of his wife.

Coroner Ira Mayo and Sheriff Bond at the time they made the arrest of Mrs. Hosier, it is said, had in their possession a confession implicating the woman in the killing.

Isabel Takes Another Means to Avoid Meeting Mrs. Simmons

By Virginia Terhune Van de Water

CHAPTER XII.

Cocaine, little or no sex element.

Adi, her efforts to avoid being at home to callers and afternoon had been immediately lashed. Hamilton reflected as she awoke the night after her trip to the Hippic. She had not at once put her theories of heredity to the test. Adelaide Simmons had not come to see her, and Isabel, in a pleasant mood and had planned to spend the morning in reading some magazine stories. But the evening's mail had saved while she was dressing for dinner, and on her return to her room she found a letter from Mrs. Simmons that drove from her mind all thought of stories. Mrs. Simmons wrote:

"I just rang up to say that I'll be home for breakfast, dear, after all," she said. "I happened to remember that this is Cynthia's afternoon at home. So she crossed the street that evening paused and glanced up toward the windows, and Isabel shrank back out of sight.

The clock on the mantel struck four, and at the same instant the telephone bell rang. Isabel answered her rather tremulous "Hello" in a ridiculous expression. John was too good and fine to allow an underhanded act, deceitful thing.

Yet as she dressed for the evening she decided to say nothing to him of what she had seen. She would not think it right for a woman to pretend to forget when she was proud. To let it slip was lying down, could she be expected to get up and walk? Perhaps he had genuinely forgotten it, she stopped short as the glaring, able idea presented itself, was that he had deliberately planned an excuse to leave it in order to make Isabel think that he had forgotten it. Was this the reason why John was so anxious that I'll be home for breakfast, dear

'BUY NOW' WINS IN DORCHESTER

Dorchester business men in the neighborhood of Field's Corner are quite aware of the plan of "Buy It Now."

They have realized a movement to assist the Boston AMERICAN might be practical.

John J. Scarry has the windows of his large department store at Field's Corner conspicuous with his large white signs of "Buy It Now."

In one place of the store the Boston AMERICAN editorials and pictures are also displayed to the public eye and have called in attention so much interest in the plan. Manager Thomas McMahon for John J. Scarry, who is now in Florida, said: "Our store has another large one in Brookline, said:

"This 'Buy-It-Now' plan is just what the people want. We purchase in this locality read about it first in the Boston AMERICAN and then we had a meeting among ourselves and considered whether it was advisable to start here.

"We put it to the test. We have given it a fair trial. It has developed business in every way over here. While I am certain My business last week was increased and others who have adopted the same plan give me the same news.

EVERYBODY BENEFITED.

"We have pennants bearing the words 'Buy It Now' in red letters on a white background. Everywhere you go you see the signs and this has made a stir. During this spurt to business we have given the public many advantages in buying. The people are wise to the advantages. We are not carrying over any stock but we are selling it. The Brookline store has the 'Buy-It-Now' signs all over. I put them into every available space. They will always win trade. Now, I know that the Boston AMERICAN has done good service in getting new ideas before the merchants."

Manager James L. Flynn, of Flynn The Shoeman, is enthusiastic over the new business promoted. He said:

"This has stirred up people. Gets the people something to think about and talk about, that's just what this has done. They will come into your store and look around and they will see something which they need and which they can afford to buy. It is spreading. But don't understate it until you have got the spirit of what it means. Get the people to your store and give them something for their money which will make them come again. I never let any one go away dissatisfied and I give them something to make them value such a movement as the 'Buy It Now.'"

NOTHING LIKE SUCCESS

D. F. Hackett and Company grocers, have taken up with the plan on account of its success with other merchants. Mr. Hackett said:

"We as a firm wanted to wait at first before we adopted it. But I am convinced by the success which other merchants have had that it is a great success.

WOMAN WINNER IN SCHOOL ROW

Mrs. Mary A. Fay received congratulations at her home, No. 356 Parker street, Roxbury, today, upon being sustained by a Suffolk Superior jury on her appeal from a lower court decision granting a $25 fine that she was guilty last November of disturbing a public school.

Victory now rests with Mrs. Fay in her controversy with Headmaster Charles Lamprey of the Martin Grammar School of Roxbury, with whom she had an encounter, when she protested against her twelve-year-old son John being whipped.

The headmaster had Mrs. Fay summoned into Roxbury district court, where she was adjudged guilty of a school disturbance and was fined. She promptly carried the case to a higher court before a jury.

Mrs. Fay told her story to the jury. She said that her husband sent her to tell the headmaster that her boy should not be whipped for smoking cigarettes. She declared that Principal Lamprey began trouble when she threatened to take the case up to the School Board.

"At that point," said Mrs. Fay, "Mr. Lamprey grasped my boy by the collar and choked him until his tongue protruded. When I tried to save John the headmaster struck me on the shoulder, causing black and blue marks that remained a week."

Headmaster Lamprey said that Mrs. Fay raised her voice, called him a cur and a dirty cop, and said he ought to be locked up instead of teaching school. Her attack on him, he said, included striking him with both hands.

Miss Mary J. O'Neil, principal's assistant, testified Mrs. Fay said:

"Don't you dare lay a hand on my boy, you dirty cur."

Other teachers testified.

CRISIS

In Oil fields gives this company chance of century. Fortunes are made by wise INVESTMENTS DURING HARD TIMES.

HALF-MILLION DOLLARS OF NEW CAPITAL WILL BE RAISED FOR QUICK INVESTMENT BY SALE OF STOCK AT SPECIAL PRICE

In old-established Independent Company — to acquire developed and undeveloped oil properties that can now be purchased at 25 cents on the dollar along Company's pipe line and to build big storage tanks and fill them with 30-cent crude and operate our three refineries at increased capacities.

May Open New Oil Field Within 30 Days

Chance for immediate advancement in the price of stock depends on important test well now drilling. Well may be a failure—it also may be from a 300 to a 3,000-barrel well. It is believed to be located right, and this company has sufficient acreage around it to develop a fortune-making property. If we miss it, in this location, we will drill on some other of the many oil and gas leases of this company.

There is risk to be run in every business, and while some people knock the oil business as risky and uncertain—such is not the result when a Company pushes ahead with sufficient capital.

Par value of stock is $1.00 per share. Special offer to you is 1c per share and the agreement to remain loyal to the Company. Authorized capital of Company is Three Hundred Million shares. Approximately Two Hundred and Forty-six Million shares are now owned by fourteen thousand stockholders, leaving about fifty-four million shares yet in the treasury to be sold for new capital to acquire and develop the company's properties.

This Company will accept only $100,000.00 at the price offered herein—for with this much additional capital now so much headway can be made that the next allotment of stock should sell quickly at from 3 to 5 times this special offer.

To the Investing Public:

This Company already owns and is operating one hundred and nine (109) oil and gas wells. Has over one thousand acres of deeded land and several thousand acres of oil and gas leases located through the great oil counties of Osage, Tulsa, Creek and Pawnee in Oklahoma.

It has THREE REFINERIES and a GREASE and PARAFFINE PLANT. They are located at Kansas City, Kas., Atchison and Cherryvale, Kas., and Tulsa, Okla. It owns over two hundred miles of pipe line and it will soon have all of the pipe line connecting practically all our producing properties, screwed together and pumping oil from our own wells, connecting and supplying the Tulsa, Okla., and Cherryvale refineries with our own oil. We have our own tank cars and distributing stations and a sales department that can market free of the Trust ten thousand (10,000) barrels per day.

We can now handle about 3,000 barrels per day through our Tulsa and Cherryvale refineries and can in ninety days' time increase the capacities of these two refineries to about six thousand (6,000) barrels per day.

Also, in ninety days' time, with sufficient capital, we could consolidate the Atchison Paraffine Plant with our Kansas City Refinery and Grease Plant and handle three thousand barrels daily at this Kansas City Consolidated Plant, where we have fifteen acres in the Armourdale district, close to big fuel users.

A Half Million Dollars of new capital now could easily increase the earning capacity of this Company so it could earn good dividends on actual valuation of about Thirty Million Dollars. The people of the Missouri Valley States will do well to place their moral and financial support on a reasonable basis back of this independent company.

The Oil Trust is taking advantage of the present depressed business conditions to gobble up, through producing concerns it finances, good oil-producing properties in the rich Oklahoma oil fields.

Automobile owners and owners of mills and manufactories who are now securing gasoline and fuel oil cheap should look ahead and realize that already the Trust concerns have control of over a million acres of Oklahoma oil and gas lands.

They are working to secure as near all these valuable properties as possible. When the Trust once secures control of the raw product—UP WILL GO GASOLINE TO 30 CENTS PER GALLON, FUEL OIL TO A DOLLAR PER BARREL AND COAL OIL TO 15 TO 20 CENTS A GALLON—and lubricating oil accordingly.

OIL USERS IN THE MISSOURI VALLEY SHOULD BUY THIS STOCK FOR PROTECTION. You can legislate until doomsday, and investigate the same way—but, after all is said and done, there is really but one way to regulate oil prices, and that is for the people to own a big Independent Company that is willing to produce and market oil at a reasonable profit and for every good citizen to insist and demand that the Washington Government does not deliver all the Indian oil lands to the Trust. There are about three million (3,000,000) acres of oil and gas lands under direct control of the Secretary of the Interior, appointed by the President and confirmed by the Senate.

The Uncle Sam Oil Company now holds a lease from the Osage Indians on Four Hundred and Thirty Thousand (430,000) acres and is asking that it be validated through Congress or by the Secretary of the Interior, with a provision written in the contract authorizing the corporation or utility commissions of the States where the oil products from this great Government Indian lease is sold shall fix a reasonable price on said oil and oil products, including domestic gas, to the people.

The Uncle Sam Oil Company was organized and built up from the oil growth of the Kansas Oil War in 1901, when the Oil Trust defied the Kansas people and raised the black flag in the Kansas oil fields. There is no doubt as well as financial gain back of this Company, and the well-to-do farmer and business man who owns an automobile and does not want 30-cent gasoline, and the mill and manufactory owner who does not want $1 fuel oil, and the housewife and home owner, who do not want 20-cent coal oil—are all concerned in the success of The Uncle Sam Oil Company as well as the 150,000 domestic gas consumers in Kansas and Missouri that are now threatened with 50 to 75 cent domestic gas, besides a large majority of the public at large that want to see fair play.

With sufficient capital now The Uncle Sam Oil Company can expose and drive to rout any Federal official who may scheme to turn over the great Osage oil and gas fields to the Trust and help to directly save this 430,000-acre oil and gas lease that has been proved in Federal Court was secured on an honest basis from the Osage National Council. With this lease validated in Washington The Uncle Sam Oil Company can furnish sufficient oil to supply Missouri, Nebraska, Kansas, Arkansas and Oklahoma for the next twenty years, besides regulate the price of domestic gas to 150,000 homes in Oklahoma, Kansas and Missouri.

A fight against brute power and criminal money cannot be maintained without organization and sufficient capital. There are enough oil users on a big basis in Missouri and Kansas alone to take every share of Uncle Sam stock remaining in the treasury and furnish this company sufficient capital to at once buy up several hundred producing oil wells and the big acreage around them. These properties can be secured with the cash now for about 25 CENTS ON THE DOLLAR.

There are about thirty thousand different automobile owners in Kansas—and it is safe to say that each one of these thirty thousand could remit from $50 to $500 each for this stock and hardly miss the money. There are thousands more of the same class of citizens over the adjoining States equally as much interested.

Better combine with The Uncle Sam Oil Company in a successful, practical effort and aid this Company to now buy up 400 or 500 additional high grade oil wells and use your influence to secure justice in Washington, and thereby the validation of the Osage Uncle Sam lease of 430,000 acres—and help build safe and on a big basis one great Independent Competitor of the powerful Oil Trust. Do not turn a deaf ear to this practical offer and therefore indirectly aid the Oil and Gas Trust to gobble up the rest of the Oklahoma and Kansas oil and gas fields and then skin you and your neighbor by unfortunate prices for the next thirty years at least.

Instead, buy this stock and help regulate the price of oil, gasoline and domestic gas and insure a profit in your own pocketbook, instead of not locking the barn door until the horse is stolen.

There is only one way to fight the devil, and that is with fire. While the big grabbers are preaching the "Me and God" policies in New York, and with their high-sounding statements are being pushed out by news agencies backed by the Trust to fool the people—this same gang is secretly grabbing oil and gas fields under panic prices brought about by 30-cent crude and a general frame-up to secure nearly a complete monopoly in the Oklahoma-Kansas oil and gas fields.

When this is done they will forget their "pretty talks" and up will go the price of domestic gas to 50 to 75 cents, while poor washwomen cut down the bread supply for the kids to pay gas bills to fill the pockets of foreign millionaire schemers to establish more charitable foundations.

There is a practical way to meet and conquer these conditions and defeat these conspirators. The Uncle Sam Oil Company has made a fight for a square deal in the Kansas-Oklahoma oil fields now for nerly ten years. It has won out in all powerful competition until, by a recent decision of the Supreme Court of the United States, the most powerful pipe line, next to the pipe lines of The Uncle Sam Oil Company have been exempted from the common carrier attempted persecution. The scheme of the crooks in doing dirty work for the Trust was to include the Uncle Sam pipe lines in the common carrier ruling and then force our pipe lines with production from Trust oil producers in disguise, and thereby keep us from supplying our own refineries with oil from our own wells. But this outrage and latest attempted persecution was defeated. Now the coast is clear and the chance of a century is offered our company through conditions brought about by the Trust so as to enable its henchmen to buy all good producing property in Oklahoma. It is the crisis in the oil fields that puts several hundred high grade oil wells and the leases they control on the market with the hammer, where they can be purchased for about 25 cents on the dollar.

Many of these properties either adjoin or are close to our exempted pipe line and, if owned by our producing properties and the two companies, to two States.

Even a Half Million Dollars put into new development and for those already owned producing properties can easily increase the real value of this stock in a short time to 10 cents per share, and in ten years this very stock that you can now secure by prompt remittance at 1 cent per share, may be worth par or $1 per share, or 100 times this special offer, and pay you dividends with a few years each year of more than you now send remit to own stock.

One Success Generally Follows Another.

No honest effort can consistently cease an investment in this stock as a "wild-cat scheme," because this Company has demonstrated its ability to protect and build stronger even under the most vicious attacks. The truth is the great Oil Trust has about given up hope of ever checking The Uncle Sam Oil Company—and the Trust cannot afford to bid high prices through its henchmen for producing properties on undeveloped leases, and thereby raise the price all over the oil and gas belt to keep this Company from buying up 400 or 500 additional high grade oil wells along our exempted pipe line and the great acreage around them which deeper drilling may prove up into many millions of value.

Nearly every citizen buys oil products either at home or in the conduct of business. Why not look a little ahead and put a part of what you will be taxed by high prices on oils by the Trust in the future and protect yourself by making yourself a substantial stockholder in this Company?

Millions Made in Oil.

You may say there is a lot of money also lost in oil—but when such is the case it is because a few men have brought their own and not the Oil Trust game on a small basis. The business of producing, refining and marketing oil in Oklahoma and Southern Kansas is absolutely safe and will beat any other business enterprise ten to one when backed with sufficient capital. That is the great advantage of The Uncle Sam Company. Our plans from the start were to build up a great Company, with sufficient stockholders, so that it could meet and conquer any and all opposition and take advantage of such opportunities as are now offered. It now has the real CHANCE OF A CENTURY—and offers this stock, knowing that there are ten times as many oil users that should own a part of this stock right here in Oklahoma, Missouri, Kansas and Nebraska than is needed to furnish all the capital now necessary. If you are against one little clique of financial pirates controlling all the mineral wealth of the Nation and then holding up the well-to-do and the poor alike by extortionate prices—then be practical in opposition to such wrong by lining up with the FOURTEEN THOUSAND STOCKHOLDERS in The Uncle Sam Oil Company and aid in this great effort, and at the same time make a profit by helping to furnish new capital to buy up valuable producing properties and to develop new ones. Uncle Sam pipe line is now earning and sending some cash to more than $1,000—now a few thousand dollars combined with ours will soon build up the Company to a dividend basis.

Stock Must Be Sold at Once.

May Open Rich Pool in 30 Days.

While you are reading this statement the work is progressing on a very important test well on one of our Ranch creek leases in Pawnee County, Oklahoma. The Uncle Sam Oil Company owns a two-thirds interest in one hundred and eighty (180) acres of leases in this field, including one good well that has been producing over a year—and still flows. There are 480 acres of additional leases controlled by friends of The Uncle Sam Oil Company, which the Company has the refusal of. The well now under headway is about one thousand (1,000) feet south of the present flowing well. About a half mile south and a half mile east is a former test well that developed 445 feet of deep sand, with gas on the top.

Other test wells drilled within a mile north and east prove the production to be on the south. Across the Arkansas River farther to the south, northeast is the great Boston oil pool. To the south and west about twelve miles is a new field north of Yale. Directly south of the lease sections that The Uncle Sam Oil Company's 80-acre two-thirds lease is located, in is the heart of the great Cushing oil field. It is believed by many that these rich oil pools are situated more on a north and south line than in any other direction. It is about time for us to secure a block of such a location to the Cushing field and the new development near Yale, Okla. Of course, all this is guess work to a certain extent—but if you wait until they will reach the proper depth and until our belief in a rich pool in this district is proven then it will be too late to secure this stock at several times the present offer.

The Uncle Sam Oil Company is a big organization. All we need to make it boom is a few large oil wells.

Before this month ends this company may have a $100,000 well at its present location. Even a 500-barrel well would quickly cause more wells to be drilled and soon fill up our pipe line leading to the Uncle Sam Refinery, where we can pump this oil on to the Cherryvale refinery at little expense.

We have many locations to drill on our properties, and in addition to those within a few miles of the Tulsa Uncle Sam Refinery and also have what we believe are several important leases from twenty to thirty miles a little south and southwest of the Tulsa Uncle Sam Refinery. Our pipe line from Pawnee County will carry fourteen hundred and forty (1,440) barrels per day to the Tulsa Uncle Sam Refinery. Our pipe line from the Tulsa Uncle Sam Refinery to the Cherryvale Uncle Sam Refinery will carry about three thousand (3,000) barrels daily and can be increased to 4,000 barrels daily by adding two more pumping stations at little cost.

Would Like to Start 3 More Drills.

This Company, as before stated, has many important leases and is offered many others for development, and we can quickly reach our pipe line from nearly every point of compass and in the Central and Southern Oklahoma fields we have leases that can be developed on a few thousand dollars for the stock your money will go to make the every stock sale five that much more valuable.

That you may realize what you can small case is payable at producing, the Company's latest published a news item of a well published about a year ago in the Tulsa and Kansas City papers. The news report as follows:

"WORLD'S GREAT OIL FIELD."

Nine Hundred and Sixty Acre Lease Near Cleveland Produces 25,000 Barrels a Day.

"Tulsa, Okla., Nov. 15.—The newest and last word of three monster wells with an aggregate production of 75,000 barrels, on a lease in the Osage country, near Cleveland, has proved the property to be the greatest producer of high grade oil ever found in the world. The total production of the property is 75,000 barrels, and there is yet room for many more oil wells, which makes it possible for a production of 500,000 barrels a day.

The lease consists of 960 acres and was sold for $2,500 a little more than a year ago. It could not be bought now under $1,000,000, and very likely the owners would not part with it at that high figure."

Should we even develop one good acres at our present location as good as this Burden pool we should be sitting on a big basis. Where we are now drilling is believed by some to be a really west extension of the Boston pool. If we bring it in this location we will continue to drill and some time you'll note when least expected, a big rich pool will be developed.

We have the pipe line. We have refineries and distributing stations and a sales department to refine and market the product and control the price and can quickly increase our capacities to ten thousand barrels per day.

Good Prospects for the Future.

There are thousands of investors who can remit from $50 to $1,000 and make no material difference with their present business or investments. We would rather have several thousand good citizens from a dozen to a hundred miles around subscribe $50 to $1,000 and thus combine with our present 14,000 stockholders and add your moral support with your reasonable financial backing to the first effort to get all stockholders who would look more to the dollar than principle in maintaining and carrying out the real Basic principles which this Company was founded.

We consider the combined value of all our properties, including our trade name, equipment and pipe line as established trade at about Four Million Dollars ($4,000,000). There is issued and outstanding at the present time about Two Hundred and Forty-six Million shares owned almost exclusively by fourteen thousand stockholders, on which no interest has ever been paid.

The Company is controlled by a Board of Directors of twenty-one stockholders, many of whom came from twenty-five hundred miles to Two Million Shares of the stock.

There is a provision in the Trust Agreement that the Company may, by a two-thirds vote of the Board of Directors, issue Trust certificates of stock against the deposit of the stock, and this offer is a contract that provides for the transfer of all Trust Certificates of stock issued against the deposit of this stock.

The Company has always refused to accept capital through open and public brand advertisements to the general public, but has always been able to raise funds from money loaners, or a Bond for Independents IN FACT AS WELL AS NAME.

The Company makes a success of the business by the United States Government Bureau of Mines, and by two general reports each month to its stockholders, keeping them informed as to what the Company is doing.

Every dollar received by the Company is deposited the same day in a Trust Company designated by the Board of Directors. Each dollar paid out is paid by a check signed by our chief accountant and three general officers of the Uncle Sam Refinery, where we can pump this oil on to the Cherryvale refinery at little expense.

We have many locations to drill on our properties, and in addition to those within a few miles of the Tulsa Uncle Sam Refinery and also have what we believe are several important leases from twenty to thirty miles a little south and southwest of the Tulsa Uncle Sam Refinery. Our pipe line from Pawnee County will carry fourteen hundred and forty (1,440) barrels per day to the Tulsa Uncle Sam Refinery. Our pipe line from the Tulsa Uncle Sam Refinery to the Cherryvale Uncle Sam Refinery will carry about three thousand (3,000) barrels daily and can be increased to 4,000 barrels daily by adding two more pumping stations at little cost.

LATER

"Since the surrounding announcement appeared in this and other reliable newspapers, The Uncle Sam Oil Company has purchased three additional proven and producing high grade oil properties, including four hundred and eighty (480) acres of oil and gas leases with a total of twelve (12) producing oil wells.

"These newly acquired properties adjoin our present holdings, and can be operated by our present lease men without much additional expense. Also the new well now drilling is about one-fifth completed, and may reach the first oil producing strata within six to eight days.

"On one of the new properties secured the Company has made a new location, and work will commence with the second drill on this property as quick as men and teams can move in the derrick and drilling equipment.

"Remittances are coming in by the scores from several States where this advertisement has appeared, including special inquiries, until now there are deals enough pending to raise an additional $40,000.00 to $50,000.00 during the next two weeks. The Company now has 121 producing wells instead of 109—a gain of 12 producers in two weeks. Within twenty-four hours will be at work on the second new well, both of which may be big producers.

"The Company desires to purchase proven producing properties containing at least 400 to 500 high grade oil wells with that many locations yet to drill. This Company will be drilling while you sleep. It is making progress, and it will finish what it has started to buy up 400 to 500 high grade oil wells and big leases surrounding same, and if you remit from $100.00 to $1,000.00 for this stock it will help make the very stock you buy all the more valuable.

"Only patriotic citizens are wanted as stockholders. If you expect to secure any of this stock before it is all sold or advanced you should act at once, and the Company will pass upon your remittance and approve you as a stockholder and immediately send you your stock certificate or return your remittance, according to the old offer, which will be left open until further notice.

"The Trust has again arbitrarily cut the price of crude oil in Oklahoma and Kansas about one-third, or from 55c to 40c per barrel, in an effort to threaten the Oklahoma Legislature and the Governor of that great State from completing certain legislation. Oklahoma and their new Governor called their bluff.

"Better join our Independent army, now over 14,000 strong, while you have the opportunity under the old offer, which will soon be advanced as additional properties and wells are now drilling are completed, and therefore place your moral and financial support back of the Cause of Right in the Western oil fields. See special stock offer in the last two columns on this page. Remember, this stock is non-assessable."

In Conclusion

The Company's financial affairs by The Uncle Sam Oil Company right to the Kansas Oklahoma oil fields as allotted as having saved the Kansas people from the Standard Oil Trust methods during the last ten years. With our pipe lines and refineries in operation and our good effect are reached into Missouri, Iowa, Nebraska and Missouri and Oklahoma, the Uncle Sam Oil Company could not be crushed and Oil Trust practitioners tried to invade by new investments during hard times. The Company would be able to compete its first refinery and completed its first pipe line, and built the second and the third refinery, just as it planned at the beginning.

However, the persecution and illegal and interference brought about by the Trust influence did interfere temporarily with the pipe line for Kansas and Oklahoma to have a market for their oil, and about two hundred and fifty miles of the oil fields and between our pipe lines connecting our refineries and producing properties are owned almost exclusively by stockholders, on which no interest has ever been paid.

The Company is controlled by a Board of Directors of twenty-one stockholders, many of whom came from twenty-five hundred to two million shares of the stock.

There is a provision in the Trust Agreement that the Company may, by a two-thirds vote of the Board of Directors, issue Trust certificates of stock against the deposit of the stock, and this offer is a contract that provides for the transfer of all Trust Certificates of stock issued against the deposit of this stock.

The Company has always refused to accept capital through open and public brand advertisements to the general public, but has always been able to raise funds from money loaners, or a Bond for Independents IN FACT AS WELL AS NAME.

The Company makes a success of the business by the United States Government Bureau of Mines, and by two general reports each month to its stockholders, keeping them informed as to what the Company is doing.

Every dollar received by the Company is deposited the same day in a Trust Company designated by the Board of Directors. Each dollar paid out is paid by a check signed by our chief accountant and three general officers of the Uncle Sam Refinery, where we can pump this oil on to the Cherryvale refinery at little expense.

WE HAVE NEVER ASSESSED STOCK

for this stock, but, realizing that oil properties can be purchased at about one-fifth value, the Company submits this special offer, realizing that times are hard and big inducements must be offered to secure new capital. We know there are millions seeking investment, and as such investors know oil properties are on bottom and that now is the time to invest they are safe to take this stock.

We do not want gas "dry holes" investors, either from our mailing list or will for this stock. The Company has been slandered by Oil Trust publications in the past and will probably be in the future—and there are always blackmail suits threatened—but we

Respectfully submitted,

MACK IS OUT TO WIN FROM LEWIS

By JACK CONWAY

FRANKIE MACK will receive the greatest chance of his career again, when he meets Ted "Kid" Lewis in a twenty-round bout Havana, Cuba Saturday night. Lewis is the featherweight champion of England. He has taken on considerable weight since he came to this side of the big pond and is fighting as a regular lightweight.

Joe Woodman, who saw Lewis box in England, declares that he is a remarkable performer and that he has the ability to conquer the record of the American fighter.

Mack has planned his training camp in Havana. He will not be obliged to do a great deal of it save in preparation for the bout as he is already in good condition. He has been boxing steadily this Winter and is prepared to travel over the twenty rounds at a lively clip.

After his battle with Lewis, Mack will journey to New Orleans where he will probably be matched to share with Jack Britton, Charley White or Joe Mandot.

JIM CRILLEY, the Lawrence boxing promoter, has arranged an attractive card for the Eagle Cycle Club for tomorrow night. Kinney Bucks, the Lowell featherweight, and George "Kid" Bosch of North Adams will exchange blows in the headline event of twelve rounds. Bosch is a rugged performer and Kinney, who was opposed of Johnny Mathes of North Adams the other night. Doyle thinks Bosch will defeat Kinney, as he is one of the best 122-pound boxers in the East.

MATTY BALDWIN will be able to box again in about three weeks. The Charlestown featherweight was one of his ribs shattered in the second bout with Johnny Harvey, but is on the road to a speedy recovery. Eddie Murphy, Baldwin's manager, who also shoots them over the plate in the Senior Old Sports baseball league, has decided that Baldwin received his injury in his ringside with Willie Spencer, but that it did not trouble him much at the time. Matty flies west and fought Harvey when Murphy asked him to do so.

Harvey is quite clever and should be in line for a return bout of importance for the Charlestown veteran if he can win his next bout. Harvey recently landed a couple of solid decisions on Baldwin's superior and the result was Murphy decided that it would be foolish for him to allow his protege to continue fighting, as the bone was broken.

FRED NOLAN informs us that Dave Powers is going to be a busy young man within the next few days during the next few months. He has been signed to exchange blows with "K. O." Pahlte in a ten-round bout in New London on March 10. Tommy Quill of Brockton is also matched to start boxing again. If he receives the ring, Powers will probably be matched next week for a ten-round encounter which will be held before the Only A. C. in North Abington.

JACK CURLEY, who is at the head of the syndicate which is trying to engage a Dale Walker-Jack Britton bout in Juarez, Mex., is having plenty of trouble just now. After having completed the preliminaries for the championship battle, the big smoke wanted to be arrested on the charge of getting from Buenos Aires, South America to Havana, Cuba. He then asked for a postponement of the match. Curley naturally had to grant his request. Otherwise Johnson would have remained on the door-step of Cuba.

IT IS beginning to look as though Johnson is not very serious in his fight with Willard and before he signs a bridge separating Juarez from El Paso which is in the United States. Johnson probably fears that he will be railroaded into Uncle Sam's territory, in which case a comfy jail would put a stout hinge for safe keeping. The scrap is running shy of individual and friends to keep out of the clutches of the law.

"THE SHAME OF THE TOODLES CASE"

That's the way one of the best known men in Boston characterizes the recent breach of promise trial which attracted as much attention as a World's Series baseball game. Young people are talking about the "Toodles" case. Is this right? Who is to blame? "Toodles" told her own life story exclusively in last SUNDAY'S AMERICAN, and what a wonderful human document of an American girl's life it was! Now comes another phase of the whole case—its effect on the community. This "Toodles" feature will appear EXCLUSIVELY in

POEHLER-WALSH WIN BY 238 PINS

A TANDEM bowling team that is able to defeat Arthur Wahl and Paul Cuthier is still missing. After their victory over "Hal" Millar and Harry Cole in a recent rolling match, Walsh and Poehler took the bigger than ever and it is the opinion of all followers of the alley game that the Channey "sprayers" are untouchable.

In the final ten strings of the special match the combination of Walsh and Poehler defeated their opponents 3,700 to 3,462, making their grand total for the twenty strings 4,237 against 4,099, and giving them a winning margin of 238 pins.

POEHLER and Walsh put up a wonderful exhibition of bowling and set several handicap specimens that thronged the New Boston alleys are stronger in their games for the contest than ever before.

POEHLER was again the high man in the individual total of 1,-Walsh rolled 1,062, Cole 1,087 and Millar 990. Poehler rolled a very consistent game and not once did he drop below the 200 mark. His highest single string was 114. Walsh hit out singles of 132 and 127.

COLE should be given a lot of credit for the wonderful fight he put up against the champions. Cole fought desperately all the final box and had Millar given him the right kind of support the result would have been much closer. Millar, it must be admitted, had a lot of trouble in getting his game and in the last few boxes on his good head put him.

THE scores of the final ten strings follow:

Poehler—104, 118, 111, 115, 138, 162, 114, 109, 106—1,115. Walsh—135, 94, 103, 98, 114, 117, 105, 132, 137, 84—1,097—2,208. Cole—116, 92, 97, 104, 105, 130, 101, 97, 120, 109—1,087. Millar—88, 107, 117, 101, 85, 113, 111, 88, 90, 83—980—2,057.

BOYLSTON at Murray is held as the feature match in the City League series tonight. The champion victory for "Ike" Hartford's team would put Murray in a tie with Boylston.

ADAMS SQUARE rolls at Carruth, and a victory for either team will greatly add to the honors in the league standing. Boylston is leading Adams Square by two points and Carruth is tied with Murray. So some big doings are anticipated this evening.

CHAUNCY rolls at Casino. These are the only teams that are sure of their present standing. Chauncy has such a big lead for first place and Casino is so far down in the race that no matter how the games go it will not bother either standing.

THE bowling team representing Riccardis & Company had but little trouble in defeating the Austin Dutton team at the Boylston alleys last night. 1,567 to 1,253. C. M. Austin of the Riccardis team was the star of the evening with a three-string total of 302. J. M. Smith of the same team rolled 291.

THE women rollers at Joe Spillane's Bowlaway Hall of Somerville are putting up some fine strings in the matches which it is rumored that Joe will challenge some of the fair stars from other alleys. In the matches this week Miss Welch rolled 315, Miss Akers 323 and Miss Orestero 289.

HARRY SWALES has shown great improvement in his rolling since he joined the Casino team. In three consecutive strings yesterday he rolled 299. These scores gave him the lead for the special prize offered for the best three consecutive strings rolled during the week. Swales has a four-string total of 1,338.

BILL MURPHY will take his championship team to Hyde Park tomorrow night to roll an exhibition match against a Hyde Park team at the New Bowlerly alleys. Archie Walsh, Terry Jordan, Jack Taylor, Harry Bernard and Tom Cuthier will bowl for Champion. Wilbur, Nelson, James Dunn, John Dooley, Joe Gallivan and Wilbur Murray will represent Hyde Park.

Food for Sport Fans

SPRINGTIME INSANITY.

In the Spring a player's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of bunk,
And the bonds of baseball writers yards and yards of odd-time junk.

"I am better now than ever," is his line of ancient guff,
"I am faster than a whirlwind and my arm is strong and tough,
And my eye is like an eaglet's when I look for battin' orders—
It will be the greatest season of my long and great career."

There is nothing in it and it never thrills a bit,
And it always makes me wonder why the writers fall for it.

IT IS also a question whether Johnson is in good physical condition. Reports from Havana contradict each other. John H. Robinson, manager of Batting Nelson, declares that the negro is in grand shape, while Joe Woodman, manager of Lonsdorn has received a letter from one of Johnson's trainers which states that the champion is not fit to fight. It seems that the best way to settle the dispute is by tossing a coin.

LINES TO SOME YOUNG GUY.

Young man, you'll have a large and lead-pipe cinch
To supersede the well-known home-run snitzer,
But when you come to bat in every pinch
The fans will rise and yell for old Frank Baker.

Joe Welling of Chicago, who claims he has discovered the occipital punch, is a great little discoverer. Next thing he knows he will discover America.

The occipital punch was extensively popular with Henry VIII, but history always insisted that it be delivered with an ax.

TOO LATE!

(By C. Mathewson.)

I grieve to see Frank Baker quit the game;
I grieve to see him throw his spoke aside,
To see him turn from paths of wealth and fame
And on some distant farmstead to abide.

I grieve to see him tolling at the plow,
Or sowing wheat or oats upon the lea;
I grieve to see him quit the pastime now—
It comes too late to be of use to me.

Buck O'Brien Turns Down Memphis Club

BROCKTON, Feb. 24.—"Buck" O'Brien, former Red Sox twirler, has refused to sign with the Memphis club of the Southern League because his contract calls for a cut in salary. The management believes, however, that a satisfactory adjustment can be made. "Buck" has been keeping in condition this Winter by bowling.

"HEAR Ye! Hear Ye! Hear Ye! The Old Timers' Association of Ye Town of Dutton hath decreed to perform an enormous expense to perform on the American alleys, Thursday, at 8 p. m. They will give an exhibition for the good of the cause of baney aboys, pleased spares, half Worcesters, full Worcesters, errors, surrflee-butt, stolen bases, with heaves, short arm jolts and shock absorbers that will open the eyes of the oldest inhabitants. Everybody is free to witness this marvelous attraction." This was the way Manager Fred Williams of the American alley announced the coming of the Old Timers. You're there, Fred.

HARRY SWALES and Writer Bell, the pen of the Casino alleys are still waiting to hear from Henderson and Murphy of Everett in regard to a return match. The scores made by Swales and "Mickey" Garvin are willing to roll Dave Grove and Bob Mulhern.

There seems to be no end to the stream of scores, which are pouring in with every mail, and it is expected that all records for tournament entries will be broken when time is up.

Meanwhile those who qualified for the sixth week's roll-off, which will be staged at the Summer Street alleys Saturday night, are hard at work preparing for the event and it would not be surprising to see new record figures for the tournament established.

Bear in mind, this is absolutely your last chance to compete for one of the prizes, which are as follows:

First Prize	$20.00
Second Prize	10.00
Third Prize	5.00
Special Woman's Prize	5.00

The prizes will consist of merchandise. You can have anything you want at any store you choose to the value of the prize you won, and the Boston AMERICAN will pay the bill. The merchandise orders are given to protect you against becoming professionals.

Michailoff, the Cossack, will face Andre Kandradt for the Canadian championship.

These events will be in addition to the two main events, in one of which Charley Cutler meets Leandro Bey, and in the other Karl Lemle matches Frank Hockmann. Both of these battles will be to a finish, best two out of three falls.

Answers will be filed as received and will be the contest closes they will be examined. It will be far more surprising if Frank Baker remains retired during the coming season than if he should return to the Athletics. The Trappe slugger is undoubtedly sincere in his determination to lead the simple life down in Maryland, but there are already indications that he is weakening.

If Baker had declared that he was through as the national game was through sheer disgust of the pastime and that he never again wanted to see a baseball field or wear a uniform, it would look as though he could not be induced to once more face a major league pitcher. But Baker has not become baseball fever very bad.

He admits that he is going to play baseball at every chance this year, and that he is going to organize a team of players in his town. He already shows that he is interested in baseball, and this admission by admitting that a big increase in salary might induce him to return to the Athletics.

If Baker really intended to remain retired, all the money in the Shibe-Mack treasury could not get him to think for a minute of returning to the diamond. It is evident from Frank's remarks that baseball is bred in his bones and that his love for the game is still altogether unchecked.

Whatever else may be said about the Pirate team for 1915, it looks as if the pitching department will be well looked after. Now that Cozzelman is indicated his intention of staying this season, the Clarke will have one of the best chucking corps in the major leagues. With Harmon, McQuillan, Cooper, Adams, Cozzelman and Mamaux to depend upon and with the possibility of Erving Kantlehner coming through, the Pirate staff should have the edge on many clubs in the league.

As is known to all who followed the team's progress last season, the pitchers performed nobly and with anything like consistent hitting behind them, they would have landed their club higher up in the race.

This season there are going to be many changes. As has been stated before at least four positions will be filled by new men; and these men cannot do any worse than the players who constituted the Dreyfussian organization in 1914.

Sing Sing prisoners are to be allowed to play ball with teams from the outside. But then it may be difficult to persuade the ball players to return to their dull, uneventful homes.

Bill Bradley is anxiously awaiting his fate at the hands of the Federal League. Bill has been wished onto the Kansas with without their being consulted, and now the Kansan City team does not want him.

Ollie O'Mara, the St. Louis boy who played a bang up game at short for the Robins last year before his leg was broken, is already at Daytona, Fla. Ollie wants to give his leg a tryout before the rest of the Dodgers get to camp.

BECAUSE OF HIS POOR CONDITION, Captain Lathrop of the Lehigh varsity hockey team will be unable to take part in the Intercollegiate series.

Teschner Back with Harvard Relay Team

Eddie Teschner, upon whom Harvard depends for supremacy in the sprinting line next Spring, has just been declared off probation at Cambridge and is expected to wear the Crimson colors Saturday in the Harvard-B. A. A. relay, which is to be a feature of the Unicorn Club's school games. Billy Meanix, the New England Intercollegiate handling champion, is still uncertain of his standing, but the belief is that he will not right himself until the April "exams."

Harvard Foilsmen Win.

Harvard foilsmen defeated Tech's fencers by a score of 7 to 2. Captain T. Putnam and S. Dillon of the Crimson went through their bouts undefeated.

HARVARD SEVEN AGAIN BEATS YALE

Harvard's 3 to 1 hockey victory over Yale at New Haven, thereby capturing the annual series with the Blue, probably means that the Crimson and Dartmouth will meet in one or a series of contests.

Harvard was easily beaten by Fred Rocque's boys at the Arena last month, but if a series is arranged and the Harvard men beat Dartmouth, their right to the championship title would be absolute. If Dartmouth should win, the Green would still have the Yale setback as a blemish on their record books.

Dartmouth, like Barkis, is willin', and whether or not a series will take place is up to Harvard.

Captain Claffin's absence caused the Crimson little inconvenience last night, for Yale was outskated and outplayed throughout. Wylde's wonderful goal stopping blighted Yale's game constantly, his twenty-seven stops against ten shots of Yale indicating not only how constantly Yale forced the play but the consistant blocking of the puck by Wylde. In the second period York had only three stops to eighteen for the Harvard defender.

CARRIGAN READY TO START SOUTH

By A. H. C. MITCHELL.

We learn from the public prints today that the Red Sox are ready to go South for spring training. It is true we read this statement several days, not to say weeks, ago, but if this sort of thing keeps up it is expected that the fans will really believe it.

Another straw that indicates which way the wind is blowing is seen in the published reports that Manager Carrigan, Harold Janvrin and Olaf Henriksen went over together to see a game of battleship baseball. When Joe busky athletes will kill time with battleship baseball it shows that they are not only ready to go South, but anxious.

Carrigan described the game in some detail after returning to the Red Sox offices, but his hearers agreed, after listening to the description, that it is one of those games that has to be seen to be appreciated.

LIKED NEW GAME.

However, it may be said that all three players were enthusiastic over the battleship baseball as a Winter diversion. They predict that it will become quite a vogue next season. The inventor has taken out a patent on the device. Carrigan said that it was a life-saver for the boat club where it is being played, as all the members are crazy over it.

Battleship baseball consists in pitching a baseball at a mark. The "batter" stands behind the mark behind a wire protection for he can toss the pitcher in the open if he wears a mask to prevent a broken nose), and when the ball comes he strike a lever. If he "hits" the ball the act releases three dice, which represent strikes, or base hits. Close games are the rule, scores of 5 to 4 and 6 to 2 and so on being the rule.

SAVED HIS "SOUPBONE."

Carrigan said that Janvrin and Henriksen took turns at pitching, but he decided not to risk his own "soupbone" in the New England weather that is prevailing just now.

To settle all argument the Red Sox manager announced today that he was ready to go South. President Lannin said the same thing and so did several old war-horse baseball reporters who have their pencils sharpened for an active campaign.

Scout Putsey Donovan is also ready to start out whenever anything shows in the scouting line.

NEW ONE ON JOHNSON.

Patsey pulled off a new one on Walter Johnson today. He told of a rookie on one of the American League clubs who saw Johnson for the first time in the clubhouse before a game. The big Swede was moving about quietly, getting his things together and not saying a word to anyone.

"Gee," said the rookie, "you wouldn't know that fellow was around. He didn't make any noise at all."

"No," replied his companion, a veteran player, "but you know he's around when he steps in the box."

One of the fastest hockey games of the local season is carded for the Arena tonight, when the B. A. A. seven will face Hochelaga team, leaders of the Montreal City League.

With the possible exception of the Cleveland team, this aggregation is rated by Canadian experts as the speediest amateur team either in the United States or Canada. Individually the forwards are each sensational players and their fast skating and adroit stick handling is expected to start something with the team play of the local seven.

Patsey Sequin of the Arena team is a former member of this team and his brother is guarding the goal for the Canadians.

Harvard Crews Shape Up Well on River

Harvard's two varsity eights and a sophomore crew shaped up very well in a trial spin on the Charles. They worked up the river for fully two miles with no les to bother them.

In an effort to increase interest in class rowing, the Harvard management has appointed class crew captains and an overseer from the varsity crew.

J. White has been named captain of the sophomore eight and H. H. Cabot, '17, from the varsity squad; L. S. Chichester, '16, captain of the junior crew, with K. G. D. Parson in charge; R. Reynolds, '15, captain of the senior boat, with H. Howard, '15, the varsity representative.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Feb. 24.—Vincent Campbell, the former Pittsburg and Boston star, who was with the Indianapolis Federal League club last season, has so far refused to sign a contract.

WHITTED SLATED TO JOIN PHILLIES

By NICK FLATLEY.

Just as we told you, the arrival of President Gaffney of the Braves in town brought some news anent that long-delayed Magee deal. Not much news, but enough to make it seem well-nigh sure that George Whitted, outfielder, infielder and everything else for the Braves last year, is very likely to go to the Slowtown squad.

It has been more or less common news for some time back that the former Cardinal is wanted by the Quakers. Pat Moran watched him work last Fall when the Braves were doing their little clean-up stunt. Patrick was greatly impressed at that time and hesitated not to say so. Nor has he hesitated since.

WHITTED WANTS TO STAY.

Whitted, however, has not the slightest desire to leave the "Miracle Man" and the Braves. He sets forth the very potent argument that he learned more baseball in a couple of months with Stallings than ever he did in his previous years in the grand old pastime.

He scents from afar other World's Series profits and no doubt he has jumped in the press of the day the possibility that the champion teams of the two big leagues may be taken out to the well-known Panama-Pacific Fair and there indulge in additional baseball and reap additional profits therefrom.

George, like every other Brave, expects the Boston team to repeat its 1914 triumph, and he wishes to be in on said triumph.

OFFERED BIG BONUS TO SIGN.

Be that as it may, chances are he is likely to change places. Already he has been offered $2,000 spot cash to sign up with Moran's team, and from what President Gaffney evidently heard over in New York the past few days, this same team is quite willing to stretch the bonus, in addition to rearing the figure in the contract that now holds the all-round star to the Braves outfit.

Both being the case, chances are Whitted will go, willy nilly. The Braves must have Magee and the Phillies must have some good player to replace the veteran star. Stallings likes Whitted and knows that he can make an All ball player out of him, but Stallings knows that he must get some experienced talent into his outfield if he hopes to make good and take another pennant in the National circuit.

WHALING GETS IN FOLD.

If Moran insists, Stallings will doubtless be able to talk over Whitted into lassooing the loose coin that looms right before his eyes, rather than wait and take chances on possible, but by no means probable, series emolument.

Other than this—the amount of cold, hard dollars, and what other players may figure—the trade still remains a deep mystery.

When the signed contract of Catcher Bert Whaling arrived at the Brave headquarters yesterday, Secretary Nickerson sighed with relief. The Coast backstop was the only member of the team who was not a Brave to have and to hold until contracts run out. Whaling got away to a bad start last season and never did get going right, but with a good Spring, he can easily show enough to win the secondary position to "Hank" Gowdy in the champion backstopping department.

WHY MANN JUMPED.

According to advices received at headquarters, Leslie Mann has signed with the Federals for exactly the same figures the Braves paid him. The only difference is that the Gilmore people were willing to give him a two-year contract. Mann, it has developed, would have agreed to stay with the champions only on the assurance that he would be played regularly. Which was asking a little too much. Gaffney did go so far as to promise the Springfield physical culture expert his unconditional release if Stallings did not care to keep him, but the two-year affair took him over to the Feds.

JOHNSON FIGHT OFFICIALLY OFF

By JOHN R. ROBINSON.

HAVANA, Cuba, Feb. 24.—The Jack Johnson-Jess Willard fight scheduled for Juarez, Mex., on March 6, was at 11 o'clock last night officially declared off.

In an interview with the writer just before midnight, Johnson declared he will not take a chance on landing on Mexican soil, fearing that Carranza will either hold him for ransom or turn him over to the American authorities in an effort to re-establish favorable diplomatic relations with Washington.

"If Jack Curley, who was to promote the championship fight at Juarez, transfers the battle to Havana we can box here," declared Johnson.

Continuing, Johnson said: "I will do everything possible for Curley, when I like very much, but I will not take a chance with the Mexican government. Dick Kleigin, the local promoter, went the absolute limit to deliver me to Curley, even against Kleigin's own financial interests.

"Other friends of Kleigin's here have worked equally hard, but my mind is made up and I will not change it.

"I have authorized Kleigin to open negotiations with Curley to transfer the fight to Havana. I am sure it will draw five times as much money here as it would have at Juarez.

"Meanwhile I will remain in Havana and am ready to meet Ben McVey and Colin Bell here for Kleigin. We will first educate the Cuban public to real fighting and then pull my fight with Willard.

"Havana looks like the greatest sporting city in the world. I am sorry for Curley but he is an impossible position. I have just cabled him declaring the fight off."

Johnson will give an exhibition here today and tomorrow will start real training in hopes that Willard will come here to fight for the title.

N. E. Balkline Title Games Open Tonight

The Class A balkline championship of New England, under the direction of the Amateur Billiard Club, commences this evening at the Institute Hall with the best class of entries that this event has ever had. The present holder of the title, William Foley, is entered in the tournament, but with such strong players to contend with as Maurice Daly, Walter Thurston, Fred Frazzell, Harold Horne and Ray Van Arsdale, it looks very much as if he had his work cut out for him.

100 Crimson Mermen Meet in Tank Today

Nearly 100 Harvard swimmers will compete in a handicap meet at the Cambridge Y. M. C. A. tank today.

In addition to the 20-yard dash, which will be raced from scratch, there will be a 50-yard dash, 100-yard swim, 220-yard swim, 40-yard breast stroke, quarter-mile race, 40-yard back stroke, plunge for distance and fancy diving. The following will act as judges: Mathew Mann, coach of the Harvard team; T. M. Sloane, '13; R. A. Whitney, '16; and J. F. Waters of the Cambridge Y. M. C. A.

Mike Crowley Beats Buckley in Special

Mike Crowley of Malden, national amateur champion, and Pat McCarthy of Dorchester, were the winners of the special bouts at Riverside B. C. meeting in Cyprus Hall, Cambridge. Crowley defeated William Buckley of Chelsea and McCarthy won from Jim Gorman of Roxbury by default. The following boys were the victors in the open classes: 108-pound, Thomas Darcy of Dorchester; 118-pound, A. Buckley of Cambridge; 126-pound, Bob Stanley of Boston.

Waterbury Victor in Title Racquets

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—One of the best matches ever played at the New York Racquet and Tennis Club was witnessed there when L. Waterbury defeated G. M. Heckscher in the second round of play for the national amateur racquet championship. Heckscher received a nasty cut on the back of his head, being struck with the ball, but resumed play with his head bandaged. The scores: 10—15, 15—12, 8—15, 18—14, 15—12.

In the other matches Stanley G. Mortimer, New York, defeated his clubmate, Grenville Clark, very handily in three straight games, 15—7, 15—7, 15—2.

The second round will be completed today, when J. Pell, New York, plays G. A. Thorne, Chicago, and W. Yost, New York, meets J. C. Waterbury, another local player.

Handy Equals Water Record in Title Race

Les Handy, the Brookline High School swimmer and national scholastic champion, equaled the breaking record for 100 yards, when he swam that distance in 2 minutes and 23 seconds. With his feat goes the town championship. This is the second Brookline title won by Handy this year.

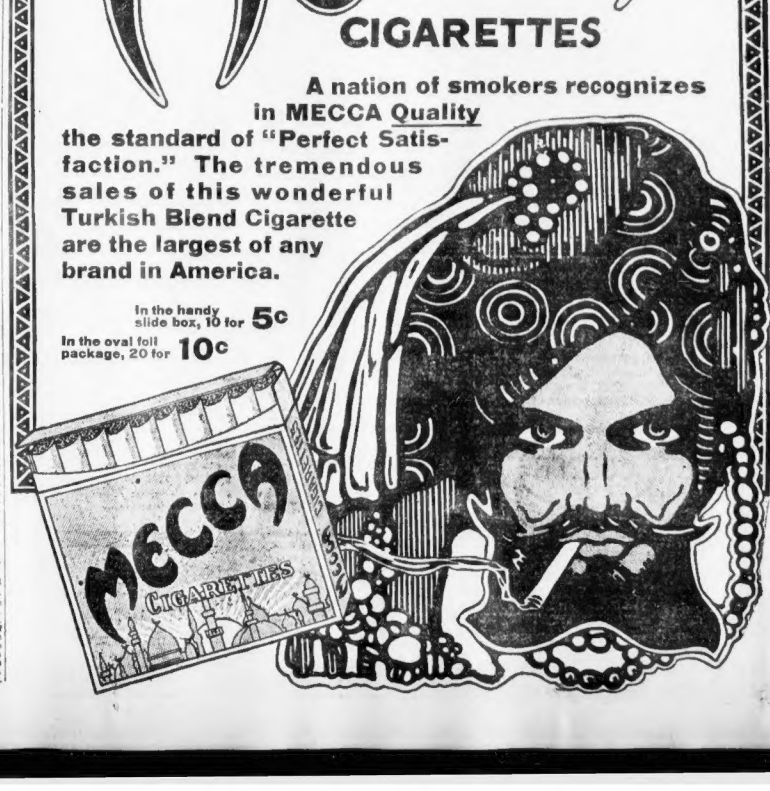
Six men competed in the race. Eddie Duffy of the Brookline "Y" won the first seat from Elliot Church of the Brookline Swimming Club. Ralph McKinnon defeated Ben James in the second heat, and Handy easily bested Max Untereas in the final. The contestants were awarded places according to their times, Handy racing first, Duffy second and Church third.

McCarey Would Build New Haven Fight Club

NEW HAVEN, Feb. 24.—Tom McCarey, the well known San Francisco fight promoter, who turned eastward when the anti-fighting bill became operative upon the Pacific coast is anxious to break into the boxing game here in New Haven since the announcement of the local chief of police that he will allow decisions to be rendered in the Mechanics' armories. McCarey promises to build a large arena here if he can be assured any permanency of protection.

Heffelfinger Agrees to Coach Yale Line

NEW HAVEN, Feb. 24.—"Pudge" Heffelfinger, Yale's most famous guard, was today announced by Captain Wilson as coach of the Elis rush line for next Fall. He has been here several days with Captain Wilson. Details of his engagement have not been yet adjusted. A two-days' conference, attended by Captain Wilson of Yale, Captain Ulrich of Princeton and Captain Mahan of the Harvard eleven, closed last night. No decision was reached, and the talk was purely informal, but one subject discussed was the numbering of the players.



CHARGE CROWELL BODY RAILROADED

PROVIDENCE, Feb. 24—Charges that the body of E. Harris Crowell, the leader in the anti-gambling war who was found dead in a pond at Woodville following the receipt of a "Blackhand" letter, was railroaded to his grave without an autopsy are expected to be followed by important developments in the mysterious case which has stirred this section of the State.

It is reported that if clews discovered by a former police official who is working with three prominent men who favor the autopsy will develop so expected the family will be in possession of evidence upon which they will shortly be able to demand an autopsy.

Attorney J. Howard Hall is also conducting a quiet inquiry along lines he has developed and will soon submit his facts to the Attorney-General's office. This evidence, he believes, will warrant the body of Crowell being exhumed for a related autopsy.

'ELLEN NEAL' GIVES VIEWS ON DRAMA

Does Mary Young really feel the part of Ellen Neal in "Common Clay," the Harvard prize drama, now entering on its eighth week at the Castle Square Theatre?

That is the question often asked by hundreds of patrons who are thrilled and often spellbound by the tragic simplicity of her impersonation.

Recently at one of the matinees, just at the beginning of the most impressive scene, Miss Young paused in her dialogue for a moment, imbued with emotion which nearly caused a collapse; something extraordinary. There had taken place. She stood or seemed to the audience as she stepped with interpretation.

But patrons saw nothing out of the way and ten minutes later the curtain fell on a storm of applause, against, was swinging rapts from sympathetic spectators who crowded at the thought of the hand and decorated by decent society and bedecked by lawyers.

But can it be said Miss Young feels the part?

If one is really troubled over the question, why shouldn't Miss Young be asked directly for an answer to the query and given a fair chance to answer? Surely she alone might give a satisfactory response. Instead, indecision—procrastination never won an interview.

A little later the Castle Square Theatre leading lady was sitting listening for the signal that would call her to the footlights.

The question was put to her with timidity, even with hesitation.

MISS YOUNG SPEAKS.

"Miss Young, do you truly feel the part of Ellen Neal, or is it a matter merely of art with you?"

The actress looked amazed for a moment and then broke into a laugh, a hearty, wholesome, engaging kind of a laugh.

"I guess you haven't been here when what happened at the beginning of the last act, but if you could realize how ridiculous it was you would laugh with me. I couldn't have helped it if the world were about to fall. It was so very funny. If I want to read about it you will have to ask Mr. Craig."

Then her mobile face softened and seriousness came into her dark eyes.

"I feel that playing the part of Ellen Neal perhaps better than any character I have had in a long time, not because any definite lesson is taught or that any obvious sermon is preached, but because Mr. Kirkland has written a part that rings true to life.

"The girl types and acts as many young women do who have had her environment, and her history can be duplicated many times over right here in Boston.

"Here is the tenement girl—tired of dirt, smoke and littered halls, of grimy-faced, hurried mothers and women overburdened—yearning for clean, well-dressed companions, young men, free and happy in their youth.

FUNDAMENTAL PROBLEMS.

"I believe if some men only realized how poor girls often long for what is, to them, the world over to smash ideals.

At this point it was announced that

MARY YOUNG, who plays Ellen Neal in Castle Square Theatre success.

Mr. Roberts had just gone onto the stage, and that made the interview must be short. Mary Young continued:

"Ellen Neal is not altogether an admirable character, and is probably no better and no worse than any other girl would be with her disposition and environment, but she touches some of the fundamental problems of life. I confess I was at first shocked at the frankness with which Mary Kirkland handles matters usually whispered among friends, but as time has gone on I have learned to think differently, and there is nothing in the play that will harm anyone to hear. I am sure.

"What saved Ellen Neal from utter ruin was her pride and her insistence upon respect. In girls could only be made to feel a pride so great that they would not sacrifice themselves before man the world would be far better than it is."

TRIPLE PROBE IN WESTON CASE

Investigations of alleged conditions in Weston which prevent State wards from riding to school in the barges which accommodate the wealthy school children of the town have been inaugurated from three distinct sources.

Governor Walsh has interested himself in the situation and has called upon the State Board of Charity to inform him of the actual conditions in Weston.

Representative Immanuel Pfeiffer, Jr., of Bedford, who represents the town of Weston in the Legislature, has undertaken on his own initiative an investigation which promises legislative investigation, unless immediate measure are adopted to remedy the alleged discrimination against the State wards.

Attorney B. Loring Young, formerly a member of the State Board of Parole and now a selectman of that town, has also started an independent inquiry to determine whether the fashionable and conservative town of Weston is permitting the alleged conditions to exist.

"If the allegations are true," Mr. Young, "it is a discrimination that the people of Weston will not tolerate for a minute. It is a striking refutation of the American principle of 'equal rights all, which is the basis of Democratic government.'

According to the reports which have officials reached the State House, the wards of the state who have been placed in private homes in Weston are not permitted to be carried from their homes and schools in the barges which are hired by the town for the transportation of its children.

Prominent citizens of Weston have said that the use of the barges is going to carry the children, but the State Board of Charity, which serves as the parent of the wards, has decided that the children must walk.

A member of the State Board of Charity is said that the officials "feel that the wards should ride on stormy days at least.

EDITORIAL PAGE OF THE BOSTON AMERICAN BOSTON FEBRUARY 24, 1915

BOSTON AMERICAN

80 AND 82 SUMMER ST., BOSTON, FEB. 24, 1915.

A Lady Asks Why We Should BUY IT NOW

A lady in one of our suburban towns has requested the AMERICAN to tell her why it is better to buy now than to buy later.

She says that the times seem hard; that the future appears uncertain; that many people are reducing expenses and saving money. She wants to know why it is not prudent for her to do likewise and to refrain from buying anything which she can do without for the present, even if she must have it later.

In an editorial published last week the AMERICAN tried to explain the reason why it is better to buy now, PROVIDED ALWAYS THAT IT IS SOMETHING THAT YOU WILL REALLY NEED SOONER OR LATER. Apparently our correspondent did not read the AMERICAN'S explanation, or perhaps the AMERICAN did not make it entirely clear.

The great reason for buying now is that you can buy more cheaply now than you will probably be able to buy later, and one of the great causes of this fact is that, as the lady herself says, so many people are refusing to buy now from fear of an uncertain future. In all dull times there is a certain element of psychology which accentuates the real causes of business depression. We are told that the times are hard, and although WE do not ourselves happen to feel them, we become fearful that WE MAY suffer, and we all begin to stop buying. Then those who have something to sell find their goods left on their hands, and they cannot pay those from whom they buy, and therefore THEY stop buying, and so it goes on in an endless chain.

Everybody knows that the law of supply and demand governs prices. If there is a certain supply, and the demand increases, the prices will go up. If there is a certain supply, and the demand decreases, the prices will go down. Now, the business men ordered their goods which they expected to sell at a time when they believed that conditions would be normal and when the ordinary demand would prevail. Hence the supply of goods is normal, and just what it would naturally be if the demand itself were normal. But, as our lady says, "people have stopped buying," and the demand is NOT normal. Therefore by the operation of the law of supply and demand the prices are lower now than they would be if people did not believe the times were hard, and that the future was uncertain, and that it would be wiser to wait.

There is another reason for the present unusual opportunity to buy at bargain prices. As we pointed out last week, the season has been very unusual, very erratic. It has been warm when it usually is cold, and it has been cold when it usually is warm. January, just passed, is usually a bright, sunny, normal Winter month. This year, with two exceptions, it was the stormiest, wettest January on record. Nothing affects the sale of goods so much as unseasonable weather. Just as a cold Summer will keep business away from the seashore hotels, so a warm December will prevent the stores from selling Winter clothes, and a wet January will prevent them from selling goods ordered for an average sunny month in mid-Winter.

The merchants, therefore, see their season closing with quantities of goods left on their hands. It is very unprofitable and unbusinesslike to carry merchandise from one season to another. Business men will sacrifice their goods to get rid of them as the season draws to a close, in order to make room for the merchandise which will be needed in the new season. All these things combine to make bargains, and those bargains will last until everybody wakes up to the fact that there are bargains now, and that the times are not permanently bad. Then will come the rush to buy, and then up will go prices.

The war was a large contributing cause to our business depression. The opening of this greatest war in all history threw everything into confusion and filled men's minds with uncertainty and dismay. All business was thrown out of joint and into disorder. But now things are beginning to adjust themselves, and this country is beginning to do the work which other countries are no longer able to do; to supply the manufactured articles which the other countries of Europe can no longer manufacture because the hands that tended the loom, poured the molten metal and guided the machines are now holding the rifle or pushing the cannon on the field of battle. The European factories are empty and idle.

This means more business for America. We are beginning to feel the stimulus of new business already. Many of our great manufacturing plants are now working overtime, and skilled labor in many trades is in great demand. Optimism, therefore, is bound to return, and with it good times and a big demand for all kinds of merchandise. Then the law of supply and demand will cause prices to go up, and the opportunity for buying at bargain prices will have gone.

The AMERICAN can only say to you, madam, that if today everybody is refusing to buy, then today is YOUR time to buy, for when everybody begins to buy you will find prices begin to rise.

Inklings and Thinklings

Boomers of the "Made in U. S. A." movement want the trademark on husbands, too. All right, so long as they're up to export standard.

Europe complains of a shortage of leeches. If the war keep on there won't be enough blood in Europe to fatten a single leech.

This twilight sleep may be O. K. for the morning sleep about train time that bothers us.

Is Palm Beach really the most important place in America?

From the Rochester Herald:

"There must be something in a name, for a dramatic critic who discussed recently a play by Henry Arthur Jones has pointed out that while there have been Thomsons and Taylors and Crabbes and Coopers in poetry, there has never been a Jones. There is something about Jones," he says, "so staid, grave, serious, substantial, responsible, that it condemns even an elfish possessor to affect the mien of a strong but conservative moralist, a steady craftsman, a man of robust common sense."

"Elfish possessor" is good.

Great Mysteries of Nature and Science

Gigantic Size and Almost Incomprehensible Light-Giving Power of Some of the Stars That Twinkle Like Little Electric Lights in the Skies

By GARRETT P. SERVISS.

"Which star has the greater area, Sirius or Capella? Also, please give dimensions of both.—Gerard Golding, Chicago."

The "area," or disk, of no star is visible, even with the most powerful telescopes. The stars are all so remote that they become mere points of light, although these points are virtually magnified into spurious or seeming disks by diffraction of the light. The larger the telescope the smaller the spurious disk of a star with the same magnifying power. But the star looks brighter with the larger telescope image.

The difference of brightness similarly affects the naked eye, and the brighter the star the larger it looks, although in every case the real diameter of the star subtends an angle too small to be visually appreciated.

But there is an indirect method of estimating the probable size of various stars, which gives some very interesting results. By taking into account both the relative distance and the relative brightness we can determine the actual amount of light emitted by any star whose distance is measurable by using the sun as a standard. To illustrate this method, take the two stars that you inquire about—Sirius and Capella, but this is an illusory superiority, due to the fact that Capella is much more distant than Sirius. If they were at an equal distance Capella would far outshine Sirius. According to the best estimates, Capella is about 200 times more luminous than the sun, and Sirius only forty times.

Here is the principle on which such calculations rest: First, compare, by means of careful measurements, the amount of light that we receive from the star in question with the amount received from the sun. The comparison is not easily made, and the results obtained by different observers vary rather widely. But we may take as fairly accurate the estimate which makes the light received on the earth from Sirius one-seven-thousand-millionth of that received from the sun. Now, the distance of Sirius is about 550,000 times the distance of the sun, and if both were equal in actual luminosity then the sun, at Sirius' distance, ought to appear just as bright as Sirius.

Remembering that light varies inversely as the square of the distance, let us calculate how bright the sun would be at 550,000 times its present distance. The square of 550,000 is, in round numbers, 280,000,000,000, which, taken inversely, shows that the light of the sun, at the distance of Sirius, would be reduced to only one 280-thousand-millionth of its present amount. But Sirius, at that same distance, gives one seven-thousand-millionth of the sun's present light, whence it follows that Sirius must be, in reality, 280 divided by 7, or 40 times more luminous than the sun.

To form some idea of the size of the stars, or the area of their surfaces, we must begin by making an assumption concerning their surface brightness as compared with that of the sun, per unit area. Suppose, for simplicity's sake, that we assume that the amount of light emitted from each square mile of Sirius is the same as that from each square mile of the sun. Then, since the total luminosity of Sirius is 40 times the sun's, and since the areas of circles vary as the squares of their diameters (in this case one of the circles, the disk of Sirius, is 40 times greater in area than the other), the diameter of Sirius must be the square root of 40, which is about 6 1-3 times the diameter of the sun. This would make Sirius about 5,485,000 miles in diameter. But there are many reasons for thinking that the luminosity of the surface of Sirius, area per area, is much greater than that of the sun's surface, so that it is probable that it exceeds the sun in size far less than the calculation just made would indicate.

In the case of Capella, however, we have a star whose constitution appears to resemble very closely that of the sun, and we can, with more confidence, make the assumption that its surface brilliance equals the sun's per unit area. Then, applying the same calculation again, we find that the diameter of Capella should be the square root of 200 (the number of times it exceeds the sun in total luminosity) times the diameter of the sun. The square root of 200 is about 14 1-5, which makes the possible diameter of the star Capella nearly 12,300,000 miles!

Breathe Fresh Air, Day and Night

BREATHE all the fresh air you can get, night and day. That's what fresh air is for. The fearsome legend about the baleful influences of "night air" is only another of the carefully nursed insanity bequests from our ancestors, according to Senior Surgeon Banks of the United States Public Health Service.

Whence this superstition arose may only be surmised. Perhaps it is a survival of the primeval cult of sun worship, which led the ancients to fear anything outside the sphere of solar influence. Our forebears were wont to caution their offspring to "be careful about the night air" or children were ordered to "come in out of the night air."

This idea is generally prevalent and even one of our well-known flowers is loaded down with the horrible name of "Deadly Nightshade" as a sort of verbal relic of this old notion. The low-lying mist or fog that sometimes hovers about the surface of the earth under certain atmospheric conditions, after sunset, was held—is held—to be "miasmatic" and pregnant with lethal possibilities.

The night air, minus the sun, is no different from the atmosphere of a sunless day. The atmospheric envelope of the earth does not change from benign to malign in the twinkling of an eye after sundown.

A story from the trenches of France is that a soldier wrote home to his wife to open her windows at night, as he had found that the night air "didn't hurt one bit." That is the experience of all the advocates of this sensible custom—once tried, the old custom of sealing oneself in an air-tight bedroom is never renewed.

Diseases which involve the lungs can usually be traced to their beginning in poorly ventilated sleeping apartments, inside rooms that do not have a share of the atmosphere.

Those emancipated persons who open their windows at night will tell you unanimously, that they cannot breathe in a chamber unless the window is raised; their sense of comfort and vigor demands the life-giving qualities of fresh air.

It takes a lot of nerve for the preacher who stands before a rich congregation to tell the unvarnished truth.

Ella Wheeler Wilcox Shows Suicide Worst Folly Man Can Commit

Death Only Shifts Scene of Action to Another Form and Plane—No Matter What Your Troubles Are, a Year May Scatter Them

By Ella Wheeler Wilcox

Copyright, 1915, by the Star Company.

If you are discouraged and blue and life looks hard and the future hopeless today, do not grow cowardly and think of self-destruction as the door of escape.

You did not make yourself. You cannot unmake yourself.

By no process of reasoning can you explain this wonderful marvel of the life principle within you. Science has found all the ingredients which compose an egg chemically, and an egg which resembles the hen's product can be manufactured.

But it will not produce life. A certain low order of fish life has been produced in the chemical laboratory. But the germs spawned by the fish had first to be employed.

Nothing can produce life but that unnamable, mysterious Power back of the universe. Created beings carry on the life principle through succeeding generations and creation remains God's secret. He who imagines he can destroy that principle is as great a fool as he who says he can explain it. And he is a criminal besides.

Death Only Shifts Scene of Action to Another Form and Plane

All that death does is to shift the scene of action to another form and plane.

If you are miserable and unhappy you do not become happy by going to another town or State. You carry your wretchedness with you.

It is precisely the same when you rush out of the body by your own act. If you are called out of the body by the same Power that brought you into the world, then it is safe to suppose that conditions are ready for you to start anew in another place.

Wait for that call.

The actor who rushes upon the stage before his cue is given spoils the play and ruins his own chances for glory.

Keep behind the earthly scenes until you hear the call. Meanwhile think well of your lines and be ready to do your best when called.

However discouraged you may be thousands of successful and happy people in the world today have been just as discouraged and unhappy as you are at some time in their lives.

In Greater New York there lives today a woman, who less than a year ago harbored dark, despairing thoughts of suicide.

She had made a mistake; she had lost her self-respect, and every imaginable trouble seemed to threaten her. Hunger and misery for those dear to her and dependent upon her, with despair and remorse, all combined to turn her thoughts toward the coward's goal—suicide.

But seeming accident deterred her, and now in less than a year all has changed. She has risen to new spiritual and moral heights, she has obtained work and is leading a good, useful, Christian life.

She is making those dear to her happy and comfortable.

How much better than to have sunk them in the depths of a lifelong sorrow by a rash attempt at self-destruction—an attempt which destroys only the outer shell, but leaves the real thing to suffer on until it works out and expiates its crime.

No Matter What Your Troubles Are Today, a Year May Scatter Them.

No matter what your troubles are today, a year may scatter them and leave you with new hope and new interest in life.

If you are an invalid a year may restore your strength.

This is a wonderful age, and people are beginning to realize that health is greatly within one's own control.

Simple food, well masticated, as little meat as possible, much water, continual deep breathing to feed the body with pure oxygen, and strength, from the source of all energy, will restore three-fourths of the invalids on earth, with no aid of medical skill. A two or three months', or even weeks' diet of raw vegetables, or milk and eggs, would restore half of the remainder, if coupled with the right mental attitude and exercise.

The day is nearing when sickness will mean disgrace or lack of brain.

If you have no money and no employment make up your mind that both are coming to you. If starvation seems imminent go to the nearest house in the country and tell your condition. Not one door in one hundred will shut you out before bestowing a saving meal. If you are in a city the blessed Salvation Army will help you, and will tell you of places to find shelter until you can look about and gain courage for a fresh start.

Unlike most of our orthodox churches, their rooms are open night and day, and in all parts of the city in every city in the Union they are to be found. They are doing just the work Christ did when upon earth. No matter if your creed is not theirs to the letter, they will help you to rise and keep out of the morgue and the Potter's field.

Brace Up Morally and Mentally and Way Will Open for You

After you have rested for a day brace up morally and mentally, and declare that you are going to make a new start, and that the way will open, must open, and has already opened to you for a new life.

This assertion will strengthen you amazingly. Believe in yourself, in your right to a useful, happy and successful life. Remember how many men have been in poverty and despair and have risen out of them to power and usefulness afterward.

Trust in the invincible force of your own divine soul to become one of these and believe the Angels of Light who hear the cry of despairing ones on earth will strengthen you.

The way will and must open for you if you turn your eyes away from death and despair, upward and forward.

The world needs you or you would not be.

Your place is waiting for you—find it!

HELPING

By WILLIAM F. KIRK

There are books that come from the wealthy
When meat is needed instead;
There's advice from the fortunate healthy
To the poor that are bound in bed.
There are creeds for the poor to swallow
While the rich are swallowing wine,
And rules for the weak to follow
Though the strong stray far from the line.

There are always poorhouses waiting
For the tortured souls that have failed
In the struggle to get a rating—
And cells where we keep them jailed.
Oh, the shame of it all—the blindness!
How long must the state endure
Where creeds are greater than kindness
And the rich give books to the poor?
